New Red Cease-Fire Plan Studied in Laotian Crisis

GRIM-FACED, Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe sat with legs crossed under guard of armed Congolese soldier after arrest at Coquilhatville, where he had earlier walked out of conference of the embattled new nation's leaders. (AP Wirephoto.)

JAILED INDEFINITELY?

Katanga Tense As Tshombe Held

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo called a high-level conference here today amid rising tension in this Congo province over the arrest of President Moise Tshombe by the central government.

Munongo conferred with the heads of the police force and government departments and with representatives of big Belgian companies over Tshombe's arrest.

He also arranged a cabinet meeting to decide what measures Katanga can take to meet the challenge laid down by the central government's announcement that it planned to hold Tshombe a prisoner in Leopoldville indefinitely.

The news that the Leopoldville government might hold Tshombe indefinitely and bring Katanga under the control of the central government hit Elisabethville like a bombshell.

Most Europeans were openly alarmed and depressed at the sudden turn of events.

Aussie Health Plan OK—But Not for Us

TORONTO (CP) — A four-man study group of the Canadian Medical Association has expressed qualified approval of Australia's state medical service.

After spending 3½ weeks in Australia, the three doctors and one economist report that the Australian system is "working very satisfactorily."

The report, published in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association's journal,

BUDGET DOWN AFTER MAY 15

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal budget won't be brought down before mid-May, Finance Minister Fleming made clear today.

"I don't think it can possibly be in the first half of this month," he said in the Commons in reply to Gordon Chown (PC—Winnipeg South).

RAILWAY WAGE TALKS BREAK DOWN

OTTAWA (CP) — Railway union negotiations in Montreal aimed at averting a nation-wide railway strike set for May 16 have collapsed, it was learned today.

The government is understood to have been informed today that last-ditch talks in Montreal failed to break an impasse in the multi-million-dollar wage dispute between the major railways and 111,000 of their non-operating employees.

The abrupt end of the negotiations once again confronts the federal government with a fast-moving crisis that could erupt into a transcontinental railway tie-up May 16 unless solved.

The railways are understood to have offered a compromise settlement that would not have provided a full retroactive pay boost for 1960.

RUSK:

No U.S. Plan To Use Arms Against Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk assured investigating senators today the United States has no plans for armed intervention in Cuba.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) said Rusk made this clear during three hours of closed-door interrogation by the Latin American affairs subcommittee of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Morse, the subcommittee chairman, reported Rusk made an able, factual "and open-breasted" statement concerning the U.S. role in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba.

Morse quoted Rusk as saying the invasion decision was made by the Cubans, refugees themselves, but that they did have arms, financial and training assistance from the United States.

Rusk was the leadoff witness in the subcommittee's effort to pin down the extent of U.S. involvement in the Cuban invasion fiasco.

Morse said "Mr. Rusk made it clear that rumors and statements that the United States is planning, because of the bloody nose we suffered, further military intervention in Cuba has no basis in fact whatsoever."

WIRE BRIEFS

Baby Beaten to Death

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Police said today an 18-month-old baby was apparently "kicked and beaten to death" during a drinking party at the nearby Cheam Indian Reserve. Police are holding the boy's parents on drinking charges.

B.C. Motorist Killed

PRINCETON (CP) — Jerome Peter Hart, 22, of Princeton, was killed today when his car went out of control on Highway 3 near here and struck a large boulder.

4 Safe in Arctic

WINNIPEG (CP) — Four men whose plane disappeared on an Arctic flight 700 miles from the North Pole, were found safe and well early today the RCAF reported.

Parley on Strike

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan called a meeting of government ministers today to consider a spreading wildcat strike among London dockworkers.

Fire in Liner's Hold

HALIFAX (CP) — The 7,400-ton liner Nova Scotia returned to port today with a fire burning in a hold. Firemen immediately sealed off the after hold when the ship docked.

Girls' Bodies Found

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI) — The bodies of two girls, aged 11 and 12, missing since Saturday were found today less than half a mile from their homes and police were searching for 16-year-old James Scott Stephens, charged with murder in their slayings.

ASTRONAUT READY

100-1 Odds He'll Make It

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A highly-trained American astronaut will try to get some sleep tonight knowing that in the morning he may rocket into space.

The odds are 100 to 1 that he will come through without harm, experts say.

Some time after dawn he may be strapped into a space capsule atop a relatively puny rocket.

Perhaps 100 minutes later the Redstone rocket will fling him 115 miles up and 200 miles out over the Atlantic.

However, a prediction of bad weather today raised some doubts whether the shot will go as planned. If present forecasts hold, the weather may not be suitable in all respects until the last half of the week.

The Redstone is less than a tenth as powerful as the monster rocket that shot Russian Yuri Gagarin on a space trip around the world in 108 minutes last month.

SHOT FIRST STEP

Tuesday's planned shot is the first step in a program that will—before the year is out—give an American the same thrilling ride around the globe.

Of the two possible space pilots, whose names are still secret, one will go and one will be on the ready, should something—even a slight cold—disqualify the first.

The chosen two were picked from three men: John Herschel Glenn, a Marine Corps lieutenant colonel from Concord, Ohio; Alan Bartlett Shepard, a navy commander from East Derry, N.Y.; and Virgil I. Grissom, an air force captain from Mitchell, Ind.

Elaborate safety precautions have been taken — the astronaut will wear a suit filled with pure oxygen in case his space capsule is damaged.

There are two radio channels; two microphones; and if they fail, a telegraph key.

The automatic systems that release the parachutes are backed by manual systems operated by the pilot. There is a spare parachute as well.

Radio beacons to help ships locate the capsule in the water are backed up by radio systems. The capsule carries a special flashing light, and dyes to color the water.

In the water, if the capsule should leak, the astronaut can escape aboard a life raft.

During the powered flight, if something should happen to the rocket, the escape mechanism would lift the space capsule free.

The way that International Dateline works is that the cease-fire in Laos is allus tomorrow.

Space flight's still a gamble—like playin' astronauts an' crosses.

That civic centre at Cathedral Hill is such a good idea it's hard to see how Victoria'll ever accept it.

10 Miles Separate War, Peace

(Times News Services)

VIENTIANE, Laos — Laotian government officials studied a new proposal from the Communist-supported rebels today to determine if the two sides could agree on a site for a cease-fire conference.

Radio Hanoi, voice of Communist North Viet Nam, said Sunday the rebels would be willing to meet delegates of this pro-Western government at the jungle village of Nam Mon, about six miles from the rebel-held town of Yang Vieng.

Since Saturday Royal Laotian forces have had a 1,500-member truce delegation at the village of Ban Khy, just 10 miles from Nam Mon, waiting in vain for a rebel delegation to show up.

Now the question was whether the two sides could close the last 10 miles.

CHANGE STAND

Some Laotian officials felt the fact that the rebels backed down on their demand to hold cease-fire talks in their northern stronghold of Xieng Khouang indicated they were getting serious about a truce.

But Western observers said it appeared unlikely the rebels would give up the offensive which has been rolling back government troops the past week.

King Savang Vathana opposes a 14-nation peace conference on Laos, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk said today. This might throw up another roadblock to a cease-fire.

Sihanouk has been acting in a role of mediator in the civil conflict and it was he who first suggested the 14-nation conference. The Communist-led rebels made this the cornerstone of their peace proposals.

Sihanouk talked to reporters on a stopover here from Luang Prabang, the Laotian royal capital.

MORE ACTIVE ROLE

The impact of the king's decision is difficult to assess. The king by tradition stands aloof from politics. But as the crisis deepened in Laos he took a more active role in trying to settle the conflict and the pro-Western government listened to his counsels.

Sihanouk and W. Averell Harriman, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, have been conferring with the king.

Sihanouk told a press conference in Vientiane that the king insisted the Laotian factions must settle their problems themselves.

President Kennedy was to call in the National Security Council again today to weigh a more active role for the United States in Laos.

This is the fourth session for the strategy group within 10 days.

Meanwhile, the United States cancelled the airlift of 6,000 troops to Europe for a planned NATO exercise.

Kennedy cut short his weekend visit in the Virginia countryside Sunday to review the Laotian crisis with government officials.

CASTRO TOURE

LENIN PEACE PRIZES have been awarded by Russia to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro for his dedication to "the struggle of the peoples for freedom and independence" and to President Sekou Toure of Guinea "regarded by the broad masses as an outstanding peace champion." Williams Morrow, a former Australian Labor Party senator also received a prize. Prizes consist of a medal, a diploma and 100,000 rubles (about $112,000).

Castro Leads Giant Parade

HAVANA (CP) — Fidel Castro this morning marched into Havana's city centre at the head of a million-strong May Day parade.

The Cuban premier, accompanied by President Osvaldo Dorticos and representatives of the Cuban Workers' Federation, led the marchers through a specially-erected triumphal arch to Havana's Plaza Cívica for celebrations expected to last most of the day.

CUBA UNVEILS SOCIALISM 4-YEAR PLAN

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Cuban economic chief Ernesto (Che) Guevara Sunday outlined an industrial program that would put the island nation well on the road to a planned "socialist" economy.

Speaking publicly for the first time since Cuba was invaded two weeks ago, Guevara urged a renewed drive toward total state control of industry "while the blood of all the martyrs is still fresh on the land."

In a Cuban TV speech he outlined a four-year plan designed to pull Cuba up by its economic bootstraps. The plan, to start next year, is patterned after the system used by Communist countries.

CASTRO IN BATTLE DRESS

across Marx-Engels square as some 2,000 steel-helmeted soldiers goose-stepped past Defence Minister Gen. Karl-Heinz Hoffmann.

The three Western commandants in Berlin termed the East Berlin parade incompatible with the four-power status of the city and a threat to public order.

Across the border in West Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt told an estimated 700,000 persons at a counter rally: "The Berliners will be at their posts if our opponents are preparing a new onslaught."

In Communist Czechoslovakia, some 500,000 persons marched through Prague. Police estimated that more than 1,400,000 persons took part in rallies throughout Japan.

'LOOK MA, NO EYES' IN NEW AUTOMATIC AUTO

LONDON (AP) — A "black-out" auto was driven around a private track outside London today. Scientists say it is the first step toward beating dense fog conditions by motoring on instruments alone.

The demonstration was conducted by the British Road Research Laboratory and was observed by the minister of science, Viscount Hallam.

The test car, steered by instruments, had its windshield completely blacked out as the driver ran through a series of simple manoeuvres.

The secret of the experiment was a cable laid under the highway surface.

Two coils mounted on the front of the car operate like a mine detector and indicate on the instrument panel the position of the vehicle in relation to the road cable.

By coupling and steering to the cable detectors, a car could be built to steer itself, scientists said.

Because of the practical problems of a fully automatic car on congested highways, the road research laboratory is concentrating on a simpler approach which could be used within a year or two.

In this, selected main highways would be equipped with guidance cables, especially at intersections. In dense fog, the driver would steer his car by an instrument on the dashboard which would show his position in relation to the cable.

A warning lamp on the dashboard could repeat traffic light signals or indicate another vehicle close ahead.

(Times News Services)

EDINBURGH — A lone bagpiper on the mist-shrouded ramparts of Edinburgh Castle Saturday drowned out a royal speech with the strains of a Scottish lament.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Royal, 64-year-old aunt of Queen Elizabeth, never gave up trying to make herself heard. But it was a losing battle.

The Princess, colonel in chief of the Royal Scots Regiment, was opening a regimental museum in the castle when the piper started his daily practice session—unaware of the royal presence nearby.

Skirling down from the battlement came the Skye Boat Song, blotting out all but a few of the royal words. Killed soldiers set off at a run to track down the piper, but they failed to find him before the princess was finishing her final sentence.

An army spokesman declined to disclose the piper's name. "He's a fine lad," the spokesman said. "He just didn't know about the ceremony and said he's very, very sorry."

TAIPEI — An 18-year-old bride walked out on her husband on their wedding night, complaining he was not the handsome man to whom she had been introduced by a match-maker. He turned out to be the supposed groom's younger brother whom she described as plain ugly.

Miss Chung Nang-mei offered her disappointed husband her entire savings, equivalent to $87.50, for an uncontested divorce, which in Formosa is easily arranged if there is mutual consent.

The husband agreed.

MOSCOW — A Soviet magazine claimed Saturday that Soviet troops and those of present-day communist allies with some help from South Africans, Australians, and the British—won the key battles of El Alamein and Tobruk in North Africa in the Second World War.

An article in the magazine Young Guard said the North African campaign, pride of the British people and of several British field marshals, actually was masterminded by a Soviet colonel.

POOLE, England — Mrs. Mary Bonham Christie, a widowed recluse of 96, died Sunday only 24 hours after being taken from her island stronghold where she had lived alone in an 80-room castle for 34 years. Mrs. Christie had been ailing for some time.

TOKYO — Bird twitterings and chirpings from the mountains and streams rouse the drowsy city dweller from slumber in a new program by the Japan Broadcasting Corporation. The corporation is playing three-minute recordings of bird songs at 6:27 every morning. The recordings emphasize solo performances in preference to "chorusing or harmonizing."

DALLAS, Tex. — A bunch of baboons had more fun than a barrel full of people at the Love Field Municipal Airport Saturday, but the human beings involved weren't amused.

Six baby baboons huddled in a plywood crate put their shoulders together, scampered loose in the American Airlines cargo building and headed for some high rafters.

For three hours they swung rafter to rafter, evading an army of airline employees and a small detachment of experts headed by Dallas Zoo director Pierre Fontaine.

A big-game hunter finally lured the last escapee down with a banana on a long stick. When the baboon reached for it, he was lassoed.

BOURNEMOUTH, England — It takes courage to tell Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery to stop talking. But pretty Mexican tennis star Yola Ramirez did.

Monty was watching her play Britain's Angela Mortimer in the semi-finals of the British hard-court championships Friday. There was chattering from the box where he was sitting.

After one rally Miss Ramirez looked straight at the old soldier and said loudly: "Please be quiet. You are disturbing the play."

Monty took it in good humor, and sat as silent as a mouse, although it was somebody else in the box who was talking.

New Schools Backed By Lake Ratepayers

The executive of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association has unanimously endorsed the $675,000 school construction bylaw to be submitted Saturday to ratepayers in rural Saanich School District 63, officials announced.

Collection Donated

VENICE (Reuters) — American millionaire Peggy Guggenheim announced Saturday night she is giving her $1,000,000 collection of modern art, rated one of the finest in the world, to the city of Venice. She lives here. Her collection includes works by Picasso, Klee, Henry Moore and many others.

The executive, at a meeting Saturday, noted the lack of schools in the sprawling rural school district is "definitely" affecting property values.

"We also support the building program because schools are necessary to provide children in the district with basic educational requirements," said Roy Wooten, president of the association.

BURNED HULA SKIRT
DRAWS BIG DAMAGES

HONOLULU (AP) — Because her hula skirt burned at a party, a 21-year-old New Westminster, B.C. woman was awarded $125,000 damages here Sunday at the end of a long court action.

Carol Lee Chapman suffered severe burns in 1957 when the skirt purchased at a store in this Hawaiian city, exploded in flames.

A federal court jury returned its decision Sunday after four days of deliberation.

The suit had been brought against Mr. and Mrs. Merle E. Chase of Eugene, Ore. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Washington State, former operators of the store.

LOSES BATTLE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Doctors early today lost a hard-fought battle to save the life of a woman whose heart stopped beating while she was having her teeth extracted Friday.

Mrs. Louis Mitchell, 34, whose life was restored by difficult cardiac massage Friday, died early today, hospital officials said.

Doctors earlier gave her a 50-50 chance of recovery.

Mrs. Mitchell's heart stopped while she lay under anaesthetic on a physicians' operating table while a dentist removed her teeth.

The physician (who asked that his name not be used) said he was able to restore the woman's breathing and got the heart pumping faintly with the breathing apparatus in his anaesthetic machine.

Portable oxygen breathing equipment kept her alive in an ambulance until she reached hospital. A surgeon then cut into her chest cavity and massaged the heart.

Phone Pioneers
Off to Mainland
For Celebration

Twenty-five Victoria members of the B.C. Chapter 53 Telephone Pioneers of America, will attend the 21st annual dinner meeting May 6 in Vancouver at which more than 500 members will be on hand.

Each has more than 21 years' service.

From Victoria will go active members Miss Frances Peterson, Victoria council president, Melvin Setter, Miss Kathleen Goodall, Herbert Clarke, Mrs. Kathleen Cheetham, Eric Mallett, Stuart Reilly, Mrs. Gertrude Hall, A. W. M. Harrison, William Lucas, Mrs. Peggy Temple, Mrs. Aileen Williamson and Archie Hardy.

Retired life members attending will be Miss Ella Walker, Robert Smyth, Robert Williams, Miss Emily Warburton, Harry McLeod, John Macintosh, William Harker, Roy English, William Smith, H. F. Dobinson and Frank Hurley.

MERRICKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Harry Falconer McLean, 78, Canadian construction man who gave away thousands of dollars in his lifetime, died at his home here Sunday night.

He was born at Bismarck, N.D., of Canadian-born parents and became known as a master at licking difficult construction problems.

He earned wider fame in the 1940s in a series of public giveaways as "Mr. X"—hitting the headlines first in November, 1943, when he tossed $5,000 in $100 bills to war wounded at Toronto.

Mr. McLean started as a construction job water boy on a Minneapolis railway job and sold newspapers on horseback to help pay for his education. He was a journeyman construction hand in Canada and the United States until he started his own firm and handled an estimated $40,000,000 in contracts in the next 40 years.

TOSSED BILLS AWAY

From a Windsor, Ont., hotel room in 1944 he sprayed thousands of dollars in bills to crowds below. He gave $500 in quarters to a hotel telephone operator, a $5,000 cheque to the police benefit fund and $45,000 more in cheques until his bank cut him off.

Many of the cheques were not honored.

He hated being cheated. Built like a boxer, he once heaved a boardwalk attendant at Atlantic City into the ocean because he suspected he was being cheated.

Jazz Musician Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Irving (Miff) Moe, 63, a noted jazz musician who played with Benny Goodman, Paul Whitman and other leading bands, died at his home Saturday.

The late bandleader Tommy Dorsey once described him as the "Babe Ruth" of the trombone.

Parent-Teacher Council of Greater Victoria endorsed resolutions on Friday urging that French courses be retained in Grade 5, 6 and 7 and that kindergartens be maintained in all B.C. schools. Conversational French course started five years ago, was dropped after publication of the Chant Report this year.

Council president Mrs. Irene Byers said parents of children who already started the course are concerned about the time wasted if the class is now discontinued.

NEW FEDERAL LEGISLATION

Fisheries Officers Curbed

OTTAWA (CP) — The power of a federal fisheries officer to act as both an accuser and a judge in dealing with fishing offences would be removed under government legislation introduced in the Commons today.

The change is among several amendments proposed in the Fisheries Act. Others would give the government the power to check oil pollution, enlarge seizure provisions, and permit Canadian trawlers to operate to within three miles of the Atlantic coast.

The existing, though seldom used, power of federal fisheries officers to act as a justice of the peace in effect arrest, try and fine or imprison a fisherman—had drawn strong objections from MPs during last year's debate on the Bill of Rights.

Outside the House today, departmental officials said the power is obsolete for all intents and purposes. It had not been used for years. The practice now is to bring fishermen before the courts, rather than perform on-the-spot trials.

Another proposed amendment to the section prohibiting the throwing of debris in waters would give the government the power to define "a deleterious substance" by regulation. This could include cause of strong complaints in the Commons.

Penalties for putting debris in the water would be sharply increased. At present, the penalty is a fine of between $20 and $100 or two months' imprisonment.

Under the proposed amendments, conviction of a first offence would bring a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1,000 or imprisonment from one to six months, or both. Penalty on the second offence would be a fine of not less than $300 and not more than $2,000 or imprisonment from two months to a year, or both.

DIVINE BLESSING is asked by Archdeacon J.W. Forth for humanitarian work of Salvation Army in erection of Matsun Sunset Lodge for the aged. The archdeacon said prayer at sod-turning ceremony on grounds of old Matsun estate in Esquimalt Saturday afternoon. Building and welfare fund underway today seeks $245,000 in public help.

Lodge Drive Rockets Away With $50,000 in Pledges

By AB KENT

News of $50,000 in pre-campaign pledges gave a headlong push Sunday to the Salvation Army's appeal for $245,000 to help build Matsun Sunset Lodge for the elderly.

Announcement of the response from a number of B.C. corporations and special names climaxed a two-day program of events in which the Army, Premier Bennett, the clergy, government representatives and a band of public-spirited citizens took energetic part to launch the building fund and Red Shield appeal.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. Bennett—astride a mechanical shovel—symbolically turned the first sod at the breathtaking West Bay site of Matsun Sunset Lodge.

He also officially announced the order in council granting $300,000 in public funds toward the eventual cost of the lodge, then handed over his personal cheque.

On Sunday Mayor Percy Scurrah indicated the city's intention of adding a grant toward the project, a step towards closing the present outmoded Old Men's Home.

Campaigners and the Salvation Army were told of the advance contributions by general campaign chairman Stuart Keate, who addressed a Sunday gathering at Victoria Citadel to launch the project.

In behalf of the 500 workers who have volunteered their help towards the goal, Mr. Keate said:

"I am confident we are going to succeed."

"We have on our side one priceless asset; the tremendous reservoir of goodwill which exists towards the Salvation Army, not only in Greater Victoria but in Canada and throughout the world."

"We, who now seek to repay the Army for its infinite acts of kindness, of compassion and mercy, are the beneficiaries of this goodwill."

He praised the dynamic leadership of the special names committee chairman, Harold Husband.

Mr. Keate said the $50,000 is a strong first step toward the $245,000 goal, but only a first step.

"For the ensuing four weeks of the campaign, we must depend on the enthusiasm of our volunteers and the generosity of our fellow citizens," Mr. Keate said.

Mayor Scurrah said he knew no better cause than the drive for a home for the aged, and the home would be "of great service to the elderly in this community."

In referring to the existing municipal home for elderly men, he said it is planned to transfer some to the Matsun Lodge.

"I do feel those men will be better off than they are at the present time."

High-Calibre Men

The mayor, who also acted as chairman of the gathering, praised the calibre of men acting in the campaign.

It is "assured of success by the type of men you have gathered to conduct it," he told Salvation Army representatives.

Greetings and wishes for success from Salvation Army Commissioner J.W. Wycliffe Booth were read.

They came via W.R. McIntyre, chairman of the local advisory board, whose decisions helped plan the two-storey lodge, and Colonel Robert Watt, territorial financial secretary for Canada and Bermuda, who quoted the Salvation Army commissioner:

"Ask B.C.'s capital to make this a really capital campaign."

Col. Watt spoke at the sod-turning ceremony at the old Matsun estate, 847 Dunsuir.

"I think of the late Ada Matsun, who bequeathed this place to the Salvation Army to house aged people. I think you will erect a place here of which we will all be proud."

'A Place of Honor'

"You are building a place of honor, of refuge, of succor," he said.

Mr. McIntyre said the lodge is a project about which the advisory board had been "planning and dreaming for many years," and was glad Mrs. Matsun's name would be perpetuated in the home.

"Her's was the first contribution" to the campaign, he said.

The premier added a lighter touch to the ceremony, held at the brow of the wooded acreage with a panoramic view of the outer harbor, James Bay and Work Point.

He remarked of "glorious sunshine" when a light drizzle stopped during the program and hinted quizzically at "further help for elderly citizens to be announced by (welfare minister) Mr. Black in a few days."

Referring to the government grant, he said, "This is the type of order in council the government likes to pass."

It is easy for me to pass an order in council (but) I hope every citizen in the radius of the city of Victoria will make a contribution to the fullest extent of his ability."

With that, the premier climbed onto a tractor-mounted shovel, manipulated the controls and hoisted a scoop of soft earth three feet into the air, his famous grin beaming to the crowd.

Getting back down to earth, himself nearly upset Mr. Bennett's self assurance. It was five feet to the ground and there were no steps, so several pairs of arms went out to aid the government leader.

The top half of his body was pearly half way down but the rest wouldn't come. His smile strained a bit and the premier was heard to say over the tractor's radio: "My coat's caught."

The ministerial coattails had snagged on the tractor controls until operator Bruce Lohr freed them and got the premier back on firm footing.

At both occasions the famous Salvation Army spirit was in evidence: in the goodwill of its spokesmen, the congregation.

U.S. Indian Tribe Will Go It Alone

KESHENA, Wis. (AP)—The Menominee Indian nation today became the first American tribe to achieve independence as a political unit.

At 12:01 a.m. today, the federal government gave up its stewardship of the Menominee and turned over its multi-million-dollar assets to representatives of the tribe.

The 365-square mile reservation was welcomed into full citizenship as Wisconsin's 72nd county 107 years after it was first carved out in negotiations between Chief Oshkosh and the U.S. government.

About 80 per cent of the tribe's 3,720 members make their living from the operations of the Indian nation's 200,000 acres of timber. Products of the mixed pine and hardwood forests have brought in about $2,000,000 annually.

DIFFICULTIES FEARED

But signs of declining revenue from sales, due largely to increased demand for veneers, have contributed to fears of financial difficulties ahead.

Menominee leaders, state officials and Wisconsin's two senators—Democrat William Proxmire and Republican Alexander Wiley—pleaded unsuccessfully for postponement of independence.

Said George Kenote, a Menominee who left the federal bureau of Indian affairs to work with his people:

"We need federal help for health. We need this help desperately. We're not afraid of the future, but after 107 years you can't just change everything in only a few years. We have to look to Washington until we're able to stand alone."

On the positive side, the tribe's assets are valued at some $35,000,000 and the treasury department holds about $1,300,000 in trust that will be turned over to the tribe.

'Politics Given Priority' In House Says Macfarlane

PARKSVILLE—The two major parties in the B.C. legislature spend their time in political warfare instead of dealing with the problems of the people, Liberal MLA Alan Macfarlane charged here Saturday.

Mr. Macfarlane was addressing the convention of the B.C. Women's Liberal Association.

The member for Oak Bay defended his party's leader, Ray Poirault, as "a fearless spokesman" in the legislature who had been attacked by both Social Credit and the CCF "for his audacity" to suggest labor-management strife was at the bottom of B.C.'s economic woes.

It was extremes such as these two parties, said Mr. Macfarlane, that illustrated the problems.

'EXTREME VIEWS'

"One of the greatest dangers in B.C. today is the existence of two political parties—Social Credit and the CCF—who take extreme divergent views and who spend the people's time in the legislature in bitter political warfare rather than dealing with the problems of our province," he said.

The first two weeks of this year's legislature were spent by these two battling over who was the more under-handed in last year's election campaign, he said.

POLITICS ONLY

After that each side went on to "vent its spleen" on Bill 42, the new labor legislation banning political use of union dues.

Mr. Macfarlane said one side claimed its was legislation to free the working man; the other side that it was to shackle him.

"It was neither. It was political legislation and no more."

His prediction for the future of the two adversaries:

Social Credit—"This zig-zagging fancy dan movement is fast running out of steam. Mr. Bennett is walking a tight-rope and the rope is worn. His backbenchers are restless or just plain immobile. His ministers are ailing or arrogant for the most part."

CCF—"The CCF-Labor combo is full of discordant notes. The New Party is doomed to disaster, because it seeks to promote a special cause for a special few."

Surviving is the widow Katherine; two sons, James and Frederick; three grandchildren; three brothers, Fred, Fergus and Vincent, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Walsh and Mrs. Theresa Finerty.

'I Am Confident'

Campaigners and the Salvation Army were told of the advance contributions by general campaign chairman Stuart Keate, who addressed a Sunday gathering at Victoria Citadel to launch the project.

In behalf of the 500 workers who have volunteered their help towards the goal, Mr. Keate said:

"I am confident we are going to succeed."

"We have on our side one priceless asset; the tremendous reservoir of goodwill which exists towards the Salvation Army, not only in Greater Victoria but in Canada and throughout the world."

"We, who now seek to repay the Army for its infinite acts of kindness, of compassion and mercy, are the beneficiaries of this goodwill."

One-Fifth There

Mr. Keate said that by way of the current advance total "we are one-fifth of the way home—and our work in this single area is only half finished."

He praised the dynamic leadership of the special names committee chairman, Harold Husband.

Mr. Keate said the $50,000 is a strong first step toward the $245,000 goal, but only a first step.

"For the ensuing four weeks of the campaign, we must depend on the enthusiasm of our volunteers and the generosity of our fellow citizens," Mr. Keate said.

Hamilton Asks Crash Scheme To Boost Work

Canada's Conservative government has refused to recognize and cope with the changes throughout the country and the world, New Party candidate Glen Hamilton said in Sidney Friday night.

Mr. Hamilton, who will seek office May 29 in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election, called for a crash program of public works to reduce unemployment.

"The paradox of our society is that the private sector of our economy is gagging on its own overproduction while the public sector is starving," he said.

He said that when he speaks of conservative governments he is referring to the "so-called Liberal party as well as the present Tory party. There are no fundamental differences between them."

A Friend in Trouble

CANADIANS ARE BEING mighty free with their advice to Mr. Kennedy on his Cuban fiasco. Writers in many newspapers across the country, and various politicians, are explaining to the President that his support of an abortive invasion of Cuba was a mistake and a fiasco. As if he needed to be told that!

Actually the strongest critics of his mistake are among his own people. No attempt is being made in the United States to cover up one of the worst blunders in its history. The President himself has not tried to deny that everything went wrong or to evade his responsibility for grave defeat. This harsh self-examination can safely be left to the Americans.

It is slightly nauseating to hear from some Canadians highly moral sermons to their neighbors — sermons from a nation which bears none of the United States' responsibilities for the defence of the western hemisphere.

Canadians who adopt a superior, pious attitude, a few almost rejoicing in American failure, are like passengers in a lifeboat who feel safe because the leak is at the other end. Let us never forget that on this continent and throughout the free world we sink or survive together. And rebuke at this time comes with peculiarly bad grace from Canada whose sole defence is the United States' power.

Thus we find Premier T. C. Douglas, prospective leader of the C.C.F. in a new version, lecturing the United States about its presumption in asserting the Monroe doctrine.

Mr. Douglas does not hesitate to tell the Kennedy government exactly what it should not have done and what it should do — this from a Canadian political party which would withdraw Canada from NATO, from any effective participation in North American defence.

By the Douglas doctrine Canada should feel free to condemn American policy while contracting out of the free world alliance and making itself still more dependent on American power.

Unfortunately Americans, reading such statements, may not realize that Mr. Douglas represents nothing more than a small splinter of Canadian politics. But fortunately the statements of government and opposition in Parliament have been moderate and responsible. Men like Mr. Green and Mr. Pearson realize that this is no time for the sport of plucking feathers from the American eagle.

If Mr. Douglas is reckless in his criticism and Peckshiffian in his advice to the United States, he offers one piece of useful advice to Canada. If this country wishes to influence the course of events in the western hemisphere, he says, it should join the Organization of American States.

How he squares that advance with a retreat from NATO Mr. Douglas has yet to explain.

Certainly there are arguments against our membership in the hemisphere group which would bring us many new problems. But our views can have little effect on Latin America if we remain as the only nation of this hemisphere which refuses to participate directly in its collective affairs.

Up to now the whole region from Mexico south has been a blind spot in Canada's vision, has received little attention from Canadian governments and not much more from business. Yet this is one of the most important regions of the world, is growing rapidly, despite all its troubles, and offers great commercial opportunities along with obvious dangers.

It is good to hear that Mr. Green on one side of Parliament and Mr. Pearson on the other (men seldom in disagreement on foreign policy) are considering Canadian membership in the OAS since outside it our opinions will carry little weight and our sniping, from a long, safe distance will be only an irritation. Rightly Canada pursues its own independent policy in such problems as Castro's Cuba but if it wishes to influence other states of the hemisphere at a time of growing danger it must declare its policies where they will be heard.

Mr. Lloyd Helping Labor?

IT WAS NOT SURPRISING THAT Labor retained the two byelection seats contested following Mr. Selwyn Lloyd's recent budget.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, now Lady Summerskill, had staked out Warrington as a Socialist stronghold before she was elevated to a life-time peerage. And in Paisley, sentiment and conditions in the Scottish industrial town had disposed the electorate to Labor views.

What was significant about the two byelections, on the other hand, was the showing of the Conservatives.

In Warrington the new Labor member established a substantially larger majority over the Conservative than had been won by his distinguished feminine predecessor. The Tories slipped in popular support.

And in Paisley, a Liberal was the close runner-up to the Labor winner. The Conservative aspirant ran a poor third where that party's standard-bearer had been close to the victor in the preceding two-party fight.

Prior to voting, the Warrington Labor candidate issued a pamphlet attacking the Selwyn Lloyd budget as a document framed specifically for the benefit of the rich.

If the decision of the voters rested on the budget, the byelections suggest that a large number of Britons do not like the new tax provisions. That reaction might have been expected.

But, as some observers have noted, the budget need not necessarily be a major political handicap when the Macmillan government goes again to the people in a general election. Two more budgets will probably be presented before that time. And two more budgets can provide fare which can be highly palatable to the voters before they decide what to do with the government in office.

Spring! Money in Pocket

THE GLOBE AND MAIL OF Toronto has reckoned, the amount of money a person making $5,500 a year pays, under existing taxes, to the government — "his costliest dependent."

In direct taxes, the individual would give Ottawa $900. In addition, he would provide approximately $700 more in indirect taxes, making the total $1,600.

On an annual salary of $5,500, it would take such a taxpayer 106 days to earn the amount he hands over to the government. Were he to start working at the first of the year and devote all his earnings to that purpose, he would have cleared off his payments to the government by April 17.

On that basis, he would start working for himself only by mid-

April—which the Globe and Mail suggests may account for the almost universal appreciation of spring's arrival. Not only do the flowers bloom, but a man begins to put money into his own pocket by that time.

The Globe and Mail obviously is not giving the entire picture. If a person makes more than $5,500 a year, he automatically pays more taxes and has to give a larger share of his working time to the government.

Which ought to cure anyone of the apathy which allows him to say he is not interested in politics in the strictest definition of the term. He's interested, alright, to the extent of more than a quarter of his salary if he makes $5,500 or better a year.

'Ten to Make and a Match to Win'

THE WINDS OF CHANGE which have blown through different parts of the world, and the currents of revolution that have brought unrest, are apparently extending their pressures in a gentlemanly way on Marylebone.

Cricket, it seems, is not immutable after all.

According to the experts, this may be the last season in which the game England gave to the world as a symbol of pure sportsmanship is played in the tradition of the last three-quarters of a century.

This isn't the first occasion on which stream-lining has been proposed. But this time there is more urgency to the demand.

Proposals under consideration by a Marylebone-headed committee range all the way from cutting matches to one day instead of three, to amalgamating smaller county teams in order to strengthen them athletically and financially. And it is suggested that first-innings be restricted to 85 overs.

All very progressive, this. But let's not eliminate the tea interval, by far the most enjoyable adjunct of cricket for those who feel it necessary to watch the game which secretly bores them to tears.

Progress?

Poor Have-Not Peoples

THE news dispatches tell of the tense situation in Laos, the thundering guns, the marching troops, the swooping planes and the sparing diplomats. To read it all, you'd think that the whole country was gripped in the horror of civil war, its people panic-stricken—as well they might be—and everything at a standstill while the gods of war wreak destruction and death, but not on the scale we might visualize. For it is instructive to read the news item which, telling of the military and political problems in Laos, goes on to say: "All this passed virtually unnoticed by tens of thousands of happy-go-lucky Laotians who gathered in Luang Prabang, the royal capital, to sing, dance in the streets, and celebrate the cremation of the late king." That sounds very close to ingratitude. Here we are, worrying ourselves sick over Laos, sympathizing with the poor people who are either being bossed or shot by the Communists, suffering in our minds with the starving and wounded—and what are the folks over there doing? Singing and dancing in the streets.

Out of Touch

A dispatch some time ago revealed that most Laotians don't even know they have a king or a government, and they believe the earth is a flat disc with perhaps a few white people living around the edge and themselves in the centre. As for the cold war—they never heard of it, or why they should belong to one side or the other.

This makes it pretty hard to get Laotians in the proper frame of mind to fight. Dancing and singing, indeed! They seem to be a very backward nation for modern purposes. There might be much to be said in favor of abandoning them to their own devices and organizing a much better ideological war somewhere else.

Not much better can be said for The Congo, apparently. Some time ago one of the correspondents penetrated a good distance into the jungle, far from the bars of Leopoldville, and found a tribe of natives who had never heard of Lumumba. Never heard of LUMUMBA!

Obviously, too, they had never heard of Khrushchev, of Eisenhower or Kennedy, of Kasavubu. Possibly they hadn't yet heard that the Belgians had left, or even that they had come.

What sort of material is that for a good colonial or ideological struggle? Pretty disheartening. And there are probably thousands, maybe millions, of them in the back jungles who are equally ignorant. Talk about a have-not nation—they haven't even got problems.

Oh, they may have a few problems—leprosy, yaws, starvation, that sort of thing. But no good, twentieth century-type problems, the kind that eat away your brain and send you to the ulcer department and the psychiatrist's couch.

Forgotten Ones

Who knows how many more out-of-the-way places on this globe harbor such deprived peoples. In how many jungle villages, mountain settlements, desert encampments, are there people living quiet, unframed lives, totally unaware of the important issues of the day and doing nothing at all to solve the pressing problems of the world?

It makes one shudder just to think of them, eating, sleeping, making love, bringing up families, growing crops or hunting game, and perhaps, poor wretches, singing and dancing in the streets.

Obviously there is a great educational mission to be carried out, and perhaps the United Nations is the proper agency to do it. We must leave no stone unturned, no avenue unexplored, no wheel unshouldered, no line unfought out on all this summer, until we have brought the word to these backward peoples, educated them to twentieth century living, and inculcated in them a proper appreciation of the values which we recognize.

Just let them get to know us thoroughly, and there'll be no more of this idle singing and dancing, we can guarantee that.

Sloshed With Hospitality

MR. CHOU EN-LAI, China's urbane premier, has long played the role of smiling conciliator whenever the harsh foreign policies of Peking appeared to offend China's Asian neighbors, and the current Sino-Burmese honeymoon constitutes his latest triumph in matchmaking.

He must, nevertheless, have been hard put to it to keep his temper when he met Premier U. Nu of Burma in Yunnan Province earlier this month, for once again these two national leaders chose the Buddhist New Year for their encounter, and, for the second time, Chou En-lai emerged soaked wet.

At the Buddhist New Year the King of the Heavenly Spirits descends to this world and the Thinyan or Water Festival is exuberantly celebrated by millions who welcome this God-given excuse to honor the celestial visitor and purge the earth of the impurities of the dead year by sloshing water over one another.

It all begins sedately enough when the devotees flick water out of silver bowls with little twigs, but as the festival week passes the siphons, pumps and buckets come out and everyone is drenched daily.

Tiresome

Life in a big Buddhist city like Rangoon is apt to be somewhat tiresome at this time. Everyone is so busy celebrating and dousing everyone else that no work gets done.

It is almost impossible to carry on any correspondence as letters are hardly ever delivered. It takes a very long-suffering postman indeed to continue his door-to-door rounds when at each house in turn he is likely to be delayed.

Yunnan is a southwestern province of China but its Thai minority population shares the Buddhist beliefs of the Burmese. Ten thousand people greeted U Nu and Chou En-lai when they met there, and, according to Radio Peking, "threw basin after basin of water over them" when they mingled with the crowd.

U Nu afterwards stated that the two premiers had reached complete agreement on matters of mutual interest, including international problems, the security of Burma, and economic cooperation between their two countries.

Charming, But . . .

Prince Norodon Sihanouk, Cambodia's lively and imaginative young head of state, who first proposed that a 14-nation conference be convened to guarantee the future neutral status of Laos, is chagrined that it will be held in Geneva and not his own capital, Phnom Penh.

The prince is the supreme policy maker of his own country and the two world blocs have vied with one another to win his favor.

But Phnom Penh, though a charming little capital of fantastic palaces and temples, a slow and relaxed way of life, and good French food, is hardly equipped to receive 14 delegations to an international conference and Sihanouk's implied suggestion that Cambodia would act as host to the meeting caused considerable embarrassment.

Acutely aware of Phnom Penh's lack of accommodation, of radio and telephone facilities, and even of a suitable building in which the delegates and their retinues could convene, each ambassador nevertheless knew that if his country were the first to propose that the conference be held elsewhere, Sihanouk would not be quick to forgive or forget.

The Russians, Americans, British and Chinese have therefore all been trying for some weeks to find some way of pushing the opposite bloc into objecting to Phnom Penh first.

But now Geneva has been chosen by common consent, and this news has produced a sigh of relief all round—not the least from those who prefer Phnom Penh to remain Phnom Penh, rather than to become a pint-sized Lake Success.

It is easy to imagine what a 14-nation official visit to Cambodia's still and timeless monuments at Angkor would be like. But, fortunately, it is not to be. (London Observer Service)

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Guard the Atlantic Bastion

THE prospects of an Algerian peace better calculated to be improved somewhat. Gen. de Gaulle has now had a showdown—hitherto something he has avoided—with the sworn enemies of his policy. In the aftermath, he will presumably take stern measures to break the back of the armed and organized military rebels, including that of the foreign mercenaries among them, and then will have a free hand to impose the terms of a settlement—if one can be agreed upon.

We must not, however, go overboard. A settlement in Algeria is exceedingly difficult. This problem of the biracial communities extends from French Algeria down through to British Central and Eastern Africa to South Africa. If Gen. de Gaulle can now succeed in establishing an independent Algeria, he will be a pioneer in international relations.

For us, bewildered and beset by events in Laos, South Vietnam, and Cuba, this French affair should be a salutary reminder not to lose our perspective in world affairs.

Crucial

By that I mean that we must continue to keep our primary attention fixed on what is central and crucial and not become divided, distracted, and engaged in the periphery.

Reading the clippings after being away for a month, I am astonished at the number of responsible men who want to use the Marines and the American paratroopers all over the world. They want to use them in Laos, in Vietnam, and Cuba.

In my view, they have let their pride, their frustration, and their impatience exaggerate fantastically the importance of these small peripheral countries. This exaggeration is at the expense of a clear and steady and resolute view of the strategy of our great adversary.

I cannot imagine any course of action better calculated to lose the cold war than to become engaged in the jungles of Indo-China or in an occupation against the guerrilla forces of Castro. Let us never forget that the armed forces of the Soviet Union are not committed in any of these peripheral countries.

It is our paramount duty in the strategy of the cold war not to become committed in costly little wars which cannot be won easily, if they can be won at all, while the Soviet Union and China have their hands free.

Have the addicts of these little wars stopped to think what a little war in Indo-China would be like? If not, let them study the British experience in Malaya where it took 10 years and a very large army to subdue these Chinese guerrillas.

Aftermath

Have they thought what a little war in Cuba would be like after the Marines had captured Havana and a few cities and had then to govern a revolutionary peasantry?

Our people have to fix it in their minds that the world-wide upheaval which has come to Laos and to Vietnam and to Cuba, which will probably come to Iraq and to certain countries in South America, that this world-wide revolution cannot be stopped and settled by the United States Marines, great fighters though they are.

American armed engagements in peripheral countries, with the Soviet Union's power uncommitted, would be the height of strategic folly. These peripheral countries, including Cuba, cannot pose a vital threat to the security of the United States, and we must not exaggerate their importance.

What is vitally important to the future of the United States is the central bastion of Western power. This is what checks the central power of the Soviet Union and preserves the peace of the world against a great war. In this Atlantic bastion France is a key country, as our actions in the past few days have testified.

FROM PARIS

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Outlook: Discouraging

AT about midnight a week ago last Friday, when he was getting ready for bed after attending a gala performance of Racine's "Britannicus," Gen. Charles de Gaulle first received from Premier Michel Debre the ugly news of a military putsch in Algiers. The days of agonizing drama which followed were almost wholly dominated by this man of deep faith and iron will. It now appears, for instance, that Gen. de Gaulle in person played the largest part in averting the parachute assault on Paris which the junta of rebellious military officers in Algiers had planned for Sunday evening.

According to rather well authenticated reports, the air officers on the scene in Algiers were at first uncertain about the course they ought to take—as well they might have been, since they were under the guns of the military junta's troops.

But their minds were made up when they saw de Gaulle on television, a towering figure in a towering rage, and heard him give his famous order, with all the formidable force at his command, to "bar the road" to the insurgents.

Some 3,500 paratroopers deployed on the Algiers airfield that night, for the planned descent on Paris. But the responsible air officers "barred the road" most effectively by the rather simple expedient of leaving the paratroopers with no means of transport across the Mediterranean.

A more curious instance of Gen. de Gaulle's impact is the story of Gen. Gouraud.

On Saturday, when visited by the courageous Minister for Algerian Affairs, Louis Joxe, this important regional commander swore undying fidelity to the government in Paris. On Sunday, Gen. Gouraud received one of the junta leaders, Gen. Zeller, with full military honors and at once rallied to the junta. But after the weekend, having reflected on what he had seen and heard on television Sunday evening, Gen. Gouraud briskly rallied all over again, this time to Gen. de Gaulle.

It is easy enough to smile at the effects on a weak man of this terrifying and primordial figure who leads France. It is wiser to be impressed by the air force officers, who were stirred to an action of very considerable courage by de Gaulle's example and command.

It is not good enough, either, to say what many people are now saying, that Gen. Challe and the others failed because they made all sorts of miscalculations about the mood of the conscript soldiers in Algeria and other such matters.

The plain truth is that these miscalculations would most probably have proved extremely superficial, without de Gaulle to "bar the road" and order others to do so.

To de Gaulle, therefore, France owes an incalculable debt for the preservation of her free institutions, and to de Gaulle, so often an uncomfortable partner, all the other Western allies owe an incalculable debt for preventing the kind of result in France which might, quite literally, have proved the beginning of the end of the West.

So much is obvious. It is obvious, too, that the neo-Fascist abyss which history inflicted upon the brave French army has now burst for good and all.

The neo-Fascist military threat, which made all Paris and all France tremble over that weekend, which has repeatedly intimidated French governments of every political coloration, will not cause any further loss of sleep to anyone for a very long time to come.

Great Gain

That, in itself, is a great gain. But the aborted coup in Algeria was none the less a tragic business, because it somewhat has weakened Gen. de Gaulle's hand and has somewhat restricted his power of manoeuvre in his dealings with those other Algerian rebels who constitute a far sterner problem for him, the F.L.N.

From the way people—even informed people—are talking in Paris today, you might suppose that the collapse of the military putsch in Algiers had removed the last obstacle to rapid negotiation of an Algerian peace. In reality, however, the outlook for early and fruitful negotiations is fairly discouraging.

The curious fact of the matter is that the F.L.N.'s alleged moderates, the political leaders including Ferhat Abbas himself, have become reluctant to negotiate.

Having the bazaar bargaining instincts of most Arabs, they see that Gen. de Gaulle is eager for negotiations, and they therefore hope for better terms if they hold back.

Meanwhile those who wish to negotiate are the supposed hard-nosed types, the F.L.N. military leaders like the legendary Kabyle, Krim Belkacem. They want peace because they fully understand the grim lot of the F.L.N. guerrilla units still in the field in Algeria.

DENNIS THE MENACE

From Our Files

May 1, 1901 — The public meeting held last night for the purpose of discussing the question of putting the wires underground on Government St. was well attended.

May 1, 1921 — Vancouver: A parade and meeting of unemployed was held in Vancouver today and passed off quietly. Police were prepared for disturbances.

May 1, 1941 — London: Seventy houses in Emden were destroyed and 130 damaged by one of Britain's new-type bombs. The Air Ministry news service reported today.

A Duodenal Diverticulum

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

As I have said many times before—and must say again—we physicians tend to get into habits as we make our diagnoses, especially in puzzling cases.

Every day we see women who are always ailing and complaining of this and that. Some are physically frail; some are easily upset nervously; some are mildly depressed, perhaps like their mother who once was in a mental hospital; many—poor souls—are sadly overworked, like the widow I just saw who types in an office all day and then comes home to get dinner for a sick husband and three children.

Others are mainly unhappy like the woman whose husband is drinking, or gambling, or chasing skirts.

Often, when a conscientious physician sees a woman like this, he feels so stumped and so helpless. What on earth can he do to be really helpful, and really, to tackle the problems of frailness, unhappiness, overwork, and lack of money?

Perhaps he is swamped with overwork himself, and is tired out. How he'd like to clear out his reception room and go home to his favorite chair, his pipe and his newspaper!

But after he leaves the office he may have to make rounds in the hospital, and then make a few house-calls, which means that he'll come home around 8:30, too tired to eat or to rest.

Is it any wonder that a man in that situation sometimes takes the easy and quick way out?

Instead of spending an hour trying really to grapple with the sickly woman's problems, he says, "Look at this little diaphragmatic hernia, or look at this (slightly) low blood sugar, or this slightly low blood count, or look at these diverticula (tiny out-pouchings) on your large bowel, or look at this ptosis (low position of the stomach and bowel) or look at this diverticulum on your duodenum (the duodenum is the first 12 inches of the small bowel next to the outlet of the stomach).

By doing this sort of thing, the doctor can dismiss the woman in 10 minutes and then go on to his next patient. What, to me, is curious is that the fashion in such diagnoses changes just as does the fashion in women's clothes.

For instance: a few years ago, I kept getting hundreds of letters asking about a low blood pressure; then no one asked about that, but hundreds asked how they were to cure a low blood sugar. Last year hundreds asked about diverticulosis of the colon; and right now dozens are asking about diverticula of the duodenum, and should they have theirs cut out.

Actually, I have been seeing diverticular of the duodenum for 47 years. Only once in that time did I see one so big that I thought it might be causing the woman's distresses. A surgeon took it out and she was no whit better.

Then I learned that she had concealed from me her story of great unhappiness and frustration over a love affair, and I was much ashamed. During my 25 years at the Mayo Clinic I cannot remember ever seeing another patient operated on for a diverticulum of the duodenum.

I see no reason why such a congenital abnormality should produce symptoms. I am pretty sure that these little out-pouchings in a few men and women are a "throw-back" to certain fish in which the duodenum always is surrounded by one or two dozen diverticula.

One of the kindest things that a physician can do for a tired-out, or highly nervous or mildly psychotic woman is not to mention the harmless little congenital peculiarities which show up during her examination, and which mean nothing. To mention them can only cause anxiety and perhaps can lead to the performance of a needless operation.

Probe of Drug Prices Asked by Steel Union

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (USWA) Saturday asked for a government commission to investigate the price of drugs.

The union's national policy conference voted to ask the Canadian Labor Congress to impress on the government the need for such a commission.

"The apparent monopoly in drug manufacture and the uncontrolled cost of drugs to the general public tend to create extreme hardship in cases of illness which do not require hospitalization, said the resolution from local 1064, Sydney, N.S.

Referring to published reports that the federal restrictive trade practices commission had been told a monopoly situation exists in Canada's pharmaceutical industry, William Mahoney, Steelworkers' national director, said:

"I'm sure this isn't revealing to anyone that we were being robbed blind on drug prices, but this is the first time there is some official support."

Another resolution demanded that all companies make public their financial statements in detail and that the federal government be urged to support this stand.

The union also voted to urge the federal and provincial governments to give assistance to workers on strike by making them eligible for public welfare and, after a reasonable period of disqualification, for unemployment insurance.

The convention also gave support to trade unionists in British Columbia who are fighting provincial legislation that withdrew checkoff rights from unions giving financial support to political parties.

Pacifists on Hunger Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of pacifist-led demonstrators protesting the United States role in the rebel invasion of Cuba began a vigil and hunger strike Sunday outside the headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency. They said they plan to make it a two-week, 24-hour-a-day demonstration.

Under sponsorship of the "non-violent committee, for Cuban independence," the 90-member group journeyed here by bus and car from New York, and set up a moving picket line outside the CIA building.

Only nine will begin the fast but others may join later, the leaders said.

George Lincoln Rockwell, followers were on hand to commandeer of the American harrangue the demonstrators Nazi party, and 19 of his, but there were no incidents.

REDS DRIVING TO REGAIN POSITION

Silkworm Still King in China

By CLARE McDERMOTT

HANGCHOW (Reuters)

The picturesque resort city of Hangchow is playing a leading role in China's campaign to regain its historic position as the world's biggest silk producer.

Thousands of skilled artists, designers, weavers and machine-tenders are working in small, street workshops or modern factories here to produce vividly-colored Hangchow brocades, satins and sheer fabrics for exports to all parts of the world.

China's silk industry today, as in centuries past, is centred in the Tai Hu Lake basin, which stretches from Nanking south to Hangchow and surrounds the great port of Shanghai.

Peasant households and people's communes in this region tend mulberry trees and raise the tiny silkworms to produce cocoons of the fine thread which, even in this age of man-made fibres, makes the most luxurious of fabrics.

Pure silk fabrics are available in some stores, but at prices which put them out of reach of most families, except for special occasions. Nor are the cheaper mixtures of silk and rayon available.

When silks are available to foreigners in Peking stores, they usually cost more than they would if bought in Hong Kong after being exported from China.

As in ancient times, when caravans carried the precious fabric over the "silk road" of central Asia to adorn the nobles of the Mediterranean and European countries, the export of silk is a valuable business for China.

In 1958, officials and workers in the silk industry announced their determination to make China the world's leading producer again by 1962. This meant increasing 1957 production by five or six times to exceed Japan's output.

PAYS FOR STEEL

The People's Daily, the Communist party organ, stressed the value of this export trade in terms, easily recognizable to the Chinese people of today. It said that silk exports during the first five-year plan (1953-57) were sufficient to pay for 5,000,000 tons of steel or 10,370,000 tons of chemical fertilizer.

Communist press reports say that production declined from the peak in 1931 until 1949, when it was only one-seventh of the 1931 total. The Communists have made a big effort to restore the industry, and claim that by 1957, they had doubled the output of silkworm cocoons and produced 3.7 times as much silk fabric as in 1949.

Millions of new mulberry trees have been planted in many parts of the country to feed silkworms. Chekiang province, of which Hangchow is the capital, has built 25,000 new silkworm rearing sheds.

The Soviet Union is China's biggest customer for silk while Italy and France are big importers of fabrics, yarns and silk wastes.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Moist Weather Speeds Growth

Some of the gardeners who came around during the last few days were moaning about the "awful" weather, but most realized that conditions were ideal for planting and transplanting.

The light, warm showers and higher night temperatures combined to make perfect growing weather.

A number of new perennials which we acquired during the week were divided and set out. Although growth was several inches high, there was no wilting, and the plants have a really happy appearance.

Young annual bedding plants which have been hardened-off have had the same benefit from the overcast skies. Snap, alyssum, lobelia and other of the hardier subjects such as the summer cabbage group will all have made new roots into the surrounding soil when planted out in the same dull period.

Showery weather is ideal for all this and, apart from muddy shoes, it causes little inconvenience to the gardener.

If sunshine and wind should return while this type of planting is still to be done, the home gardener can devise ways and means of preventing loss of moisture from the leaves until such time as a plentiful new roof system has been made.

When only a few plants are involved, a clay flower pot can be inverted over each one by day and removed before sundown. Some mornings it may be necessary to sprinkle the plants with water before covering, to create the necessary humidity.

For larger number of plants, plastic tents can be erected over wire hoops with the ends thrust into the ground. Clip-type clothespins will hold the plastic in place, and it should be free from touching the leaves so that moisture will not collect on them in spots and possibly cause burning by day and chilling by night.

Slatted frames on six-inch corner legs will give light and also moving shade protection, and may be left in position until the plants are fully established.

SYNOPSIS—Rain was falling over much of coastal B.C. this morning as a low-pressure area moves northeastward toward Vancouver Island. By Tuesday morning this system will have moved to the Queen Charlotte Islands where it will weaken and then move inland. Considerable shower activity is expected in the interior as the disturbance pushes inland. Behind the system there will be some improvement in weather conditions. By mid-day Tuesday it is expected that the sun will be shining quite frequently along the coast and that clearing will spread to the western interior by Tuesday evening.

London Hints
How Canadian Future Trends

A straw in a far-off wind today gave a hint as to the direction of Canada's economic future.

At Threadneedle Street in London, U.S. stocks were weaker, reflecting last week's Wall Street trend, while domestic issues sagged under the stress of labor troubles.

Alone among the dollar issues Canadian stocks brightened at the strength of what market experts said was a general optimism on this country's position.

Canadian U.S. markets all showed slight increases to ward the close today. Trading was brisk.

AT TORONTO prices remained up near the close of heavy trading today.

Mining trade was steady while Consolidated Mining and Smelting gained 25. Golds were light, despite the high volume of trading.

In western oil trading, Home, B.A. and Hudson's Bay dipped 1/4 at 10 1/4.

AT MONTREAL industrial improved in active trading early this afternoon. Other sections showed a mixed trend.

Banks also improved, while food stocks declined.

Papers were mixed in small fractions. Mines were mixed.

Base metals improved while western oils were quiet.

AT NEW YORK aircraft missile stocks advanced in an otherwise mixed and quiet stock market late this afternoon.

Gains and losses of key stocks ranged from fractions to about a point.

AT LONDON domestic labor troubles were a restraining influence today. After a firm opening prices became irregular.

Initial gains in gilt-edged securities were not held and occasional losses were recorded.

Among dollar stocks Canadian issues were better, reflecting optimism regarding the Canadian economy, but United States stocks eased in response to Friday's earlier trend on Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER industrial and mines showed considerable activity during the morning. Oils were quiet.

3-for-1 Split

Dividend Boost For Eddy Paper

OTTAWA (CP) — A three-for-one split of common shares and plans to increase the dividend rate have been announced following a special and the general meeting of the Eddy Paper Company, Limited.

The meetings Saturday decided to split a dividend rate of 60 cents a year per share or 15 cents quarterly on the new split shares — which would be equal to $1.80 on the old shares on which the company had been paying $1.50 a year.

The approved stock split — on issued and authorized stocks — leaves 1,046,532 shares issued of 1,800,000 authorized.

MARKET SUMMARY

London Hints How Canadian Future Trends

A straw in a far-off wind today gave a hint as to the direction of Canada's economic future.

At Threadneedle Street in London, U.S. stocks were weaker, reflecting last week's Wall Street trend, while domestic issues sagged under the stress of labor troubles.

Alone among the dollar issues Canadian stocks brightened at the strength of what market experts said was a general optimism on this country's position.

Canadian U.S. markets all showed slight increases to ward the close today. Trading was brisk.

AT TORONTO prices remained up near the close of heavy trading today.

Mining trade was steady while Consolidated Mining and Smelting gained 25. Golds were light, despite the high volume of trading.

In western oil trading, Home, B.A. and Hudson's Bay dipped 1/4 at 10 1/4.

AT MONTREAL industrial improved in active trading early this afternoon. Other sections showed a mixed trend.

Banks also improved, while food stocks declined.

Papers were mixed in small fractions. Mines were mixed.

Base metals improved while western oils were quiet.

AT NEW YORK aircraft missile stocks advanced in an otherwise mixed and quiet stock market late this afternoon.

Gains and losses of key stocks ranged from fractions to about a point.

AT LONDON domestic labor troubles were a restraining influence today. After a firm opening prices became irregular.

Initial gains in gilt-edged securities were not held and occasional losses were recorded.

Among dollar stocks Canadian issues were better, reflecting optimism regarding the Canadian economy, but United States stocks eased in response to Friday's earlier trend on Wall Street.

AT VANCOUVER industrial and mines showed considerable activity during the morning. Oils were quiet.

RUSS PILOT DENIES FIRST SPACE FLIGHT

LONDON (Reuters)—Russian test pilot Col. Vladimir Ilyushin now is in China and has denied a French report he made a space flight before Maj. Yuri Gagarin's pioneer orbit of the earth, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Sunday.

Ilyushin, son of aircraft designer Sergei Ilyushin, said: "Edouard Bobrowski, the correspondent of the French radio and television, and his similarly unscrupulous colleagues, have made 'it all up'."

Bobrowski said in a broadcast from Paris, on April 21, that Ilyushin circled the earth three times in a space capsule three or four days before Gagarin's April 12 space flight. He said Ilyushin was in a coma in a Moscow hospital and was "doomed".

B.C. Cautious On Ottawa's Fire Aid Plan

The B.C. government has not received enough details about federal help in forest fire-fighting to become very enthusiastic about it, Forests Minister Ray Williston said Friday.

Mr. Williston said so far the province has not been informed of financial implications if it enlists the aid of the armed forces as offered by federal Forests Minister Fleming.

But he said it appeared Ottawa was putting some restrictions on its offer. Mr. Fleming told reporters here Thursday "It won't be all free," but did not elaborate.

Mr. Williston said the B.C. government spends some $2,300,000 annually on forest protection services. On top of that it spends an unforeseen amount on hiring men and equipment to fight fires. Last year this extra amount topped $5,000,000.

The federal government contributes about $100,000 of the fixed costs, he said.

STEP FORWARD

"We think that to safeguard sustained yield operation really safeguards a return to the national treasury far greater than that of any other industry in B.C.," he added.

While B.C. would like more from Ottawa, at least the offer to make men and equipment, particularly RCAF helicopters, available was "a step forward."

Mr. Williston said he is awaiting a copy of a letter which is supposed to outline how much the federal government would charge for this manpower and equipment.

Hospital Career Counsel Given To 65 Students

Sixty-five grade 10 to 12 students of Royal Oak Junior-Senior High and North Saanich Junior-Senior High participated Saturday in a "hospital careers council" held at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Council purpose was to aid students in deciding their vocations and to interest them in phases of hospital work.

In welcoming the students, the administrator, Sister Mary Ann Celestra, said there was a "great need" across Canada for skilled hospital personnel in almost all departments.

Students at the schools had previously filled in a questionnaire stating preferences in 11 professions associated with hospital work, ranging from the medical profession to maintenance.

Hospital department heads gave talks to individual groups on scholastic requirements and opportunities.

A hospital tour followed.

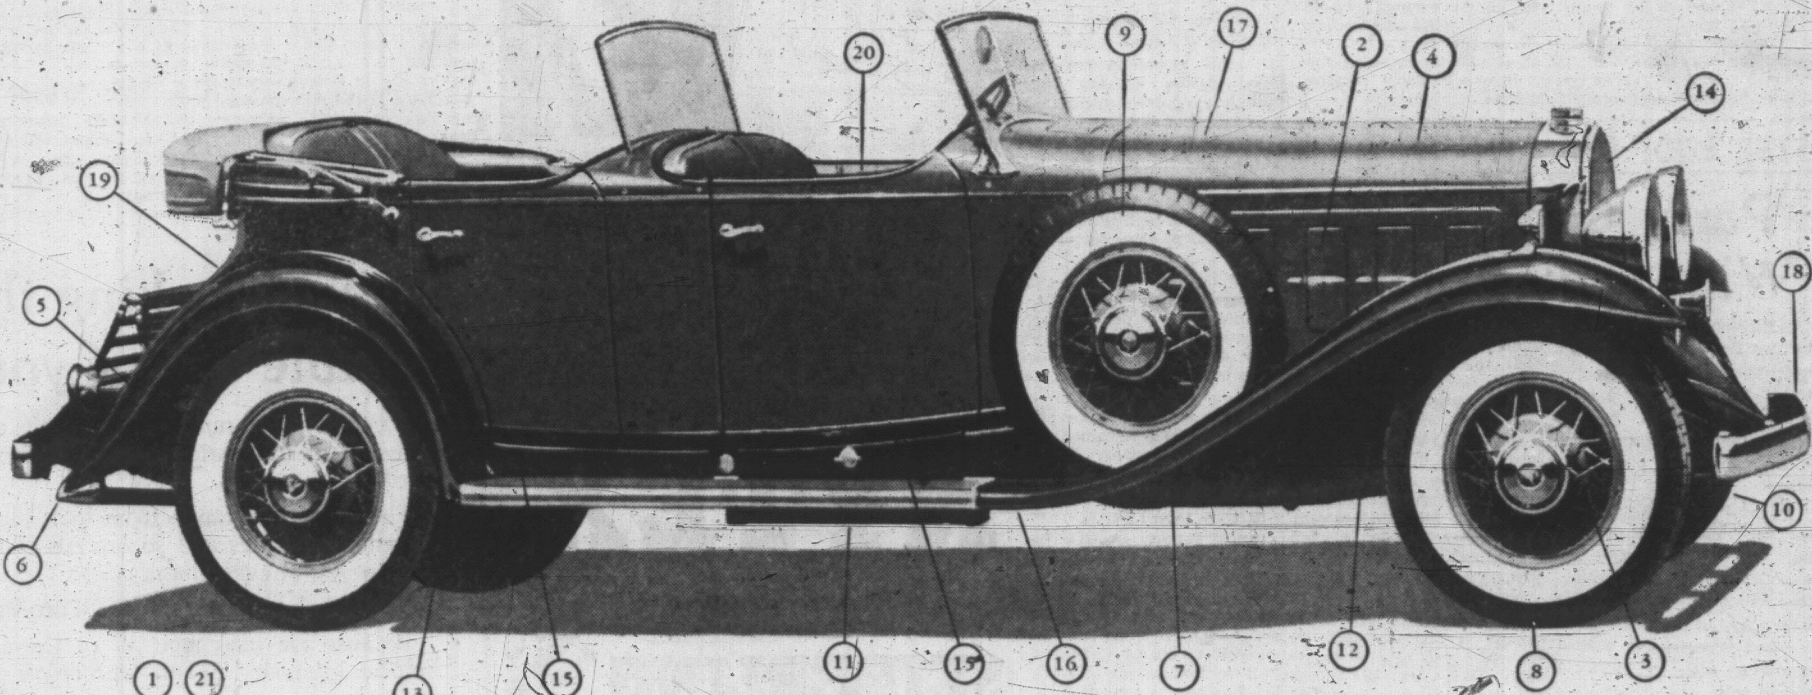

Winners Listed In View Royal Flower Show

Competition was keen between exhibitors in the View Royal Garden Club's Parlor Spring Flower Show held recently in the View Royal Community Hall.

Among contestants who won major honors were Mrs. D. G. Wilson, Mrs. E. Seaton, Mrs. J. Smith and Miss K. Dodd.

Prize winners in the various classes were:

Wallflowers: 1. Mrs. D. G. Wilson; 2. Mrs. E. Seaton; 3. Mrs. J. Smith; 4. Mrs. K. Dodd; 5. Mrs. A. F. Shepherd; arrangement: 1. Mrs. E. Seaton; 2. Mrs. J. H. Linggards; 3. Mrs. C. W. Dodd; Euphorbia: Mrs. C. K. Barlow; Calceolarias: Mrs. D. J. Williston; Marigolds: Mrs. J. H. Linggards; pansies: 1. Mrs. D. J. Williston; 2. Mr. W. J. Pynn; violas: Mr. W. J. Pynn; Polyanthus: 1. Mrs. E. Seaton; 2. Mrs. D. J. Williston; 3. Mrs. J. W. Forth; basket of tulips: Mr. J. S. Goulding.

Shell's automotive experts have developed many ways to make their own cars run better and last longer. The numbers on this classic 1930 V-16 indicate some of the areas deserving attention, as described below.

Shell recommends 21 ways to make your car last longer

Shell scientists dedicate their working lives to the care and feeding of automobiles.

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

CANADIANS spend more than 200 million dollars a year on automotive replacement parts. This expense is enough to give every man, woman and child in Canada a $12 birthday present.

With a little care you can avoid much of this expense and keep your car youthful. Here are a few tips from Shell's experts.

1. Give new cars a careful break-in. Moving parts in new cars need time to get used to each other.

This is especially true of gears; never subject them to sudden shocks or loads. Check levels of crankcase, transmission, and differential lubricants regularly. This running-in phase is critical. Follow the car's manufacturer's break-in, directions carefully. Improper treatment then can cause trouble many thousands of miles later.

2. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast. A short, slow-speed warm-up is good for your car even in summer, and even more necessary during colder months when oil tends to move sluggishly at first. Never race your cold engine to warm up, though. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be established.

There's no need for long idling; but drive slowly for the first few minutes.

3. Use your engine to save brake linings. Anticipate your slowdowns. Use the brakes as little as possible.

When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.

Always keep the master brake cylinder full of heavy duty brake fluid; Shell's Super Heavy Duty brake fluid is designed to help your car's brakes deliver top performance.

4. Have your car's spark timing set to manufacturer's specifications. The spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at exactly the right instant. With incorrect timing you lose power and cut mileage. Also your car may knock. An easy adjustment does the trick.

5. Use a gasoline that controls knock. If your timing is correct, and you are still getting engine knock, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.

Today's Super Shell contains all of the anti-knock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.

6. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals. Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers.

Excessive blue smoke is a warning that piston rings may be worn—and need replacing. Your mechanic calls this a "ring job."

Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment. Note: Black smoke, as well as blue smoke, can also be an indication of ring wear or faulty valves.

White smoke is actually steam. Don't worry about it. Your engine manufactures a gallon of water for every gallon of gasoline burned. On cold days some of this shows up as vapour.

7. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline. An oil check is a simple safety check for your engine. It is also free, and takes less than a minute.

By the way, oil does not wear out. But it does burn up and it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid.

To be really safe, use new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil. It only costs about $7.20 more per year than regular oils—no more than most premiums.

New Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil fights engine acid a brand new way—with an amazing chemical shield that clings to all metal surfaces. For most cars Shell recommends an oil change once a month in winter, every 60 days in summer—never more than 2000 miles between changes.

8. Avoid high speeds and save your tires. Every extra mile your tires last is money in your pocket. High speeds increase wear drastically—by as much as 80% over normal wear.

9. Rotate tires every 5000 miles. Your tires will last longer because they will all wear evenly, and at the same rate. Note: See your Shell dealer for a set of valve caps; they will prevent air from getting out and dirt from getting in around the tire valve.

10. Check wheel alignment and balance. An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50%. And proper balance is equally important. Any kind of rough driving can cause your car's front wheels to get out of line.

This can cause shimmy and tire scrub—which literally drags the wheels at an angle to the line of travel. Nothing wears tires out more quickly.

Have an expert check wheel alignment and balance at least twice a year. Proper tire inflation at all times is also essential.

11. Save your battery with 11¢ worth of baking soda. Dirt and corrosion can actually cause current leaks—and can shorten your battery's life by many months. Whether or not corrosion is visible, wash the battery off with a solution of baking soda and water. Use a wire brush if necessary. Then rinse thoroughly with warm water. Ask your Shell dealer to waterproof the cables. Caution: Never allow soda-water solution to get into your battery; the baking soda can neutralize the acid necessary to make your battery work.

12. Change your oil filter element every other oil change. Abrasive specks 1/1000th of an inch in diameter can shorten the life of your engine. The oil filter element in your car has the exacting task of keeping tiny, dangerous specks of metal and other abrasives out of the engine, while allowing oil to flow freely.

The filter catches and holds these foreign particles until it can hold no more. But when the filter is clogged up, unfiltered oil can bypass the filter and damage your engine.

Shell recommends replacing the filter element every other oil change. It helps your engine to last longer.

13. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into bearings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

See your Shell dealer for a Shell lubrication. He has the charts, equipment, Shell lubricants for your car, and the skill for a really thorough job.

14. Have your car's cooling system drained and flushed twice a year. In time, the inhibitors in your anti-freeze lose some of their ability to prevent rust, corrosion and sediment, from forming in your cooling system.

Let your Shell dealer check the cooling system—including hoses and hose connections—no less than twice a year. When he drains and refills he will add a special Cooling System Protector.

15. Keep body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. You never see them but there are little drain holes at the bottom of your car doors. They can get clogged. The doors actually hold water. Rust forms more easily and can eat holes right through the doors. You have probably noticed this ugly sight in other cars. Make sure drain holes are kept clear.

16. Wash off road salt thoroughly. Nothing can damage a car's appearance more than the chemicals used to clear icy, snowy roads. They can eat not only the finish, but the metal, too. Make sure you get it all off—especially behind the edges of those chrome strips.

17. Use these washing and polishing tips to help your car stay new looking longer. A good coat of polish protects your finish by sealing off the "pores" of the paint. But before you polish your car, always wash it—in the shade—Water droplets act like hundreds of tiny magnifying glasses when the sun shines directly on them. This can cause paint to "sunburn."

18. Protect chrome against rust invasion. Chrome, itself, can't rust. But it actually has millions of tiny holes which can let the moisture right through to the metal beneath. Dirt invites this invasion, so clean the chrome frequently, and wax it for further protection.

19. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Small scratches in the finish expose bare metal which can rust. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch up paint or even a strip of cellulose tape on the scratches. Use clear nail polish on scratches in the chrome.

20. Pamper carpets and upholstery. Ground-in dirt wears out carpets before their time. Give them a weekly whisking; shampoo twice a year.

21. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car cost you thousands of dollars—more, as a rule, than any other purchase except your home.

Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money—and increase your driving pleasure, too.

PLANE HEIGHT RECORD CLAIMED BY RUSSIA

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia said Sunday one of its pilots, George Ksolov, established a world height record Saturday by flying a Russian P-66 jet to a height of 34,100 metres (more than 112,000 feet).

The Soviet news agency Tass said all documents concerning the flight were being sent to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the official body which deals with world flying records.

The last height record ratified for normal take-off aircraft was 103,395 feet, set by U.S. pilot Joe Jordan in a Lockheed P-104C jet, in December, 1959.

The American X-15 rocket plane has exceeded the world record several times but does not qualify because it is launched from another aircraft.

STEP ASIDE FOR MEN

'Party Comes First' With Lady Politicos

Selflessness is reason given by Mrs. Douglas Blair, Ottawa, executive director of the National Federation of Liberal Women in Canada, for the small number of women who offer themselves for public office.

"When they find themselves running with a male counterpart, if they feel that he has a better chance of winning, they withdraw. A woman will invariably put the party first."

Asked why capable women candidates often get defeated at the polls, the dynamic organizer puts a great deal of the blame on "other women."

QUALITY-ONLY

"One of the biggest tasks we have is to educate women voters to be discerning and to vote only on the quality—not the sex—of the candidate."

'Ready' to Talk On Hospital Overcrowding

Health Minister Eric Martin said Saturday he is "ready and willing at any time" to meet the board of Prince George Hospital to discuss overcrowding.

He denied a statement made Friday by Gordon Townsend, administrator of the hospital, that he had been "unable" to arrange a meeting with Mr. Martin and his department.

"I know of no such request made to me personally," Martin said. "But if the hospital board wishes to discuss the matter with me, it can be arranged at any time."

Mr. Townsend's statement was made after Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, MLA for Prince George, had said Prince George Hospital would be closed on orders of fire officials unless overcrowding was relieved.

Mr. Townsend said a new section could be built onto the hospital without taxing the community. All that was sought was the approval of the health minister.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Oak Bay police court Friday:

James T. Rose, 905 Pemberton, $20, over 30 miles-an-hour.

In Colwood police court Friday:

Lorne Walter Thickett, 2845 Brymore Street, $10 and $3 costs for failing to stop for a red light; $25 and $3 costs for using a driver's licence belonging to another person.

OUTBURST AT TRIAL

Sobs, Shouts At Eichmann

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

JERUSALEM (Reuters) —

Bitter shouts and sobbing erupted in the public gallery today as witnesses at the trial of Adolf Eichmann told the grim details of the Nazi slaughter of Jews during the early days of the last war.

Two witnesses were interrupted and two men were led out of the gallery for shouting and gesturing at Eichmann, the man charged with the murder of millions of Jews during the war.

The first interruption came during testimony by a Polish-born Jew on a death march organized by the Nazis in 1939, during which jeering SS men beat and shot their victims.

A man stood up in the public gallery and screamed and shouted at Eichmann. Guards led him away, still screaming "bloodhound, bloodhound."

SHOUTS INSULTS

When another witness, Polish-born Yaakov Gurfein, described how his mother pushed him out of a train bound for Belson extermination camp, another man stood up and shouted toward Eichmann, "All my family were killed... murderer."

The man was led away sobbing.

The first witness of the day, Zvi Pachter, waved his arms and shook his fist at Eich-mann's glass cage at the bitter recollection of the beatings and torture inflicted on the marchers by SS men.

Pachter told of Jews being killed because they could not keep up with the march and of the German commander of the march tossing a piece of bread to a Jewish boy and shooting him when the boy tried to pick it up.

Eichmann pursed his lips and his face twisted as he listened to the gory evidence.

ORDERED ASSEMBLED

Pachter, speaking in Yiddish, said all Jewish males between the ages of 15 and 60 in his hometown of Rubeschov, near Lublin, Poland, were ordered to assemble in the cattle market Dec. 2, 1939. There they were told they were being taken away.

STATE VISIT began in Ottawa today for Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba, 57. He was greeted by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Governor-General Vanier. Wednesday he will visit with President Kennedy in Washington.

Special Police Ticket Traffic

MONTREAL (CP) — A trial force of 10 special constables mounted on motor-scooters is to begin patrolling downtown streets for traffic offenders today despite the protests of the Montreal Policemen's Brotherhood.

The special constables, hired by a private detective agency, are an advance guard for an eventual force of 75 planned by the city to relieve, regular patrolmen of the time-consuming task of writing parking tickets.

The brotherhood, bargaining agent for the 2,700-man city force, complained during the weekend that the newcomers' uniforms resemble regular police uniforms except for a red stripe on the trouser seams of the regular police.

A spokesman for the private agency said the special constables' uniforms are navy blue while those of the city police are blue-black.

The special service costs the city $1.50 an hour for foot pa-troolmen, $2 for those on scooters and $2.25 for sergeants.

Arms Talks in Danger

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green warned today that events in Laos and The Congo may jeopardize East-West disarmament talks scheduled to resume this summer.

He said in the Commons external affairs committee that the next two to three months may be critical in this regard. Provided there was no serious deterioration in conditions in such areas as Laos, there was a "reasonable prospect" that disarmament negotiations would be resumed about the end of July.

Mr. Green said if the United States and Russia want to reach a compromise on disarmament, there is no reason that real progress can't be made.

UNWISE POSITION

The minister told Erhart Reiger (CCF—Burnaby, Coquitlam) it would be unwise to take the position that disarmament couldn't take place until Communist China was admitted to the United Nations.

Russia, not the West, had excluded China from the disarmament negotiations last year.

Mr. Green came down hard on Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) who said complete disarmament would come as a "sudden and drastic shock" to some communities, including Halifax.

Mr. Green said he was "surprised" by this statement. Halifax wouldn't be badly shocked by disarmament. To keep up the arms race for economic reasons should not be a factor in disarmament talks.

MAN HURT IN FIGHT DOWNTOWN

Loran Wright, about 25, of 1230 Reynolds, was admitted for observation at Royal Jubilee Hospital early Saturday after he was hurt in a downtown street fight.

Police said Wright had a cut lip and head injuries after a scuffle at Douglas and Johnson at 1.10 a.m. He was discharged from hospital Sunday.

Fifteen minutes after Wright was hurt, Orin Coates, 1675 Donnelly, complained of being assaulted by a blow on the mouth a short distance from Douglas on Johnson.

He said his assailant ran off, and described him as a man wearing a dark jacket and light tan trousers.

SEVERING one of South Africa's last links with the British Crown, Charles Swart resigned at midnight as governor-general. He will be eligible to run for the presidency of the new republic to be proclaimed May 31, and is said to be certain of election.

Prisoners Escape

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Forty-three men, all political prisoners, have escaped from a penal colony on Hermosa Island and fled to Brazil with machine guns, rifles and ammunition. An official source confirmed the break-out Sunday night and said soldiers and police tried in vain to prevent the fugitives from crossing the Paraguay-Brazil border.

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — dream world of independence, Congolese in Leopoldville realize the austere and unexpected responsibilities they assumed when they insisted on managing their own country. Only gradually is this once-wealthy capital running down. Some of the outlying provinces are in chaos but Leopoldville's daily life retains its hot and sleepy routine.

"Oh, patron, when is the 'independence' going to end?"

To the ordinary Congolese, the catchword "independence" once brought hope of a better, carefree life. By now the word means unemployment, insecurity and frustration.

After nine months in the crowded with Congolese and European buyers, but the shelves are empty. Prices are creeping up as difficulties of importing—and paying for the imports—increase.

A familiar brand of American corn flakes is 23 francs (46 cents). A can of chicken soup is 15 francs (30 cents). Six small apples in a plastic bag sell for 43 francs (86 cents). Prices like these are far beyond the reach of Congolese workers. Alphonse, the Negro houseboy, earns $44 a month and is doing well compared with his neighbors.

PRICES HIGH
One by one, stores in the European city are closing, because of lack of things to sell as well as lack of people with money to buy them. A half-dozen supermarkets are still yond the reach of Congolese workers. Alphonse, the Negro houseboy, earns $44 a month and is doing well compared with his neighbors.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Doris Stevenson, supervisor of elementary education.

'LUCKIEST GUY IN THE WORLD'

Skindiver's Escape Saga

VANCOUVER (CP)—Scuba diver John Thompson, 22, waiting for sensation to return to his legs after suffering severe bends, says he guesses he is "the luckiest guy in the world."

He was diving last Tuesday about 125 miles west of here when he came up too fast from about 250 feet.

A companion rescued him and he was flown here where he spent 44 hours in a decompression chamber before being placed in hospital.

The diver Sunday spoke in an interview from an oxygen tent in hospital.

SEEKING TUG

He said he and John Humphries were trying to locate the tug Humphries Six which burned and sank about a month ago at Ripple Rock.

"I was going down slowly, watching the depth gauge on my wrist get close to 150 feet when I started to get narcosis," Thompson said. "I've had it before so I wasn't worried. You get kind of woozy, like you've had too many drinks... maybe you get careless."

"Before I knew it the water was all dark and my flashlight was shining on the bottom," he added. "My depth gauge showed the maximum, 250 feet. Suddenly I realized I was pretty darn deep."

REASON RETURNED

"But when I tried to get off the bottom I had a heck of a time," he said. "... I finally started getting up and remembering watching my air bubbles coming out of my regulator to see that I didn't exceed them. My head started clearing when I got past 150 feet. I got my reasoning back."

Thompson said the boat he was working from was about 500 feet away when he surfaced. He said Humphries headed toward him.

"I knew I had to decompress," the young diver said, "but I couldn't go down until Humphries came alongside and threw a weighted line over or I might have blacked out and sunk altogether. Well I guess I just got down the weighted line and I blacked out. Humphries told me later that he looked up and I was about 500 feet away, lying face down with my air hose floating free blowing bubbles."

He said his companion lashed him to the boat, then hauled him aboard with the capstan.

"I don't remember anything between blacking out and waking up on the wharf at Elk Falls.

"I remember the flight over here and everything else. Everybody was terrific. I don't know who to thank first."

without permanent waving solutions!

As casual as if you were born with it, your hair can be radiant with beautiful curls and waves, in the latest style without permanent waving solutions. Without neutralizers, without sprays, lacquers or sticky, flaky gums. By the miracle of one simple application even difficult to curl hair develops entrancing, fascinating waves as natural-looking as naturally wavy hair. Most important, you don't have to put up your hair night after night, yet the wave stays in. Mess up your hair as much as you like, sleep on it, let it blow in the wind... just comb and back into place fall those soft lovely curls and waves still as natural looking as if you were blessed with wavy hair all your life.

And, equally important—your hair gleams radiantly, is so soft, so smooth, so natural to touch. There's none of that "dried straw" feeling you get after permanents... none of the stickiness of sprays and lacquers... none of that old country "fixed set" look as you get after wave sets. And, most important of all, your casual curls and waves still look as glamorous the eighth day as they do the first, yet the cost is so fantastically low it's amazing.

'ALLOW ME, SIR'

Helping new Times Open titleholder Norm Boden into champion's blazer is Dr. George Bigelow (left), following Sunday's final in Vancouver Island golf championship at Uplands.

Boden, who found fit perfect, claimed title with 2 and 1 triumph before largest gallery ever to witness Island final. (Times photo by Bill Halkett).

That Bad Hole 'Good Thing' As Boden Takes Times Title

Young Gorge Professional Defeats Bigelow in Final

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Logic and fact suggest that the bubble bursts the moment air is allowed to escape.

Norm Boden is seldom one to go by the book, and that may just be another reason the 24-year-old professional today holds The Daily Times Trophy and rules as the 1961 Vancouver Island Open golf champion.

He'll swing left-handed when he has to, and go looking for trouble when he need not. It shouldn't come as a surprise, therefore, to find out that the Boden balloon expands—rather than deflates—when stuck with that well-known pin.

Logic and theory to the contrary, that's how it was at Uplands Sunday afternoon when the crew-cut greenskeeper defeated Dr. George Bigelow of Victoria Golf Club, 2 and 1, to become the third professional in four years to claim the Island's premier match play prize.

Looking for a turning point in the tense 36-hole battle, Boden picks the one hole that nobody else would. The 308-yard, par four 31st (13th).

It was there that Dr. Bigelow squared the match after trailing by two holes moments earlier. Boden, two-up after 29, lost the 30th to a par then conceded the 31st when he pushed his tee shot into an unplayable lie in the woods on the right of the fairway.

Normally, one would expect the average golfer to collapse completely after blowing a two-up advantage at such a late stage.

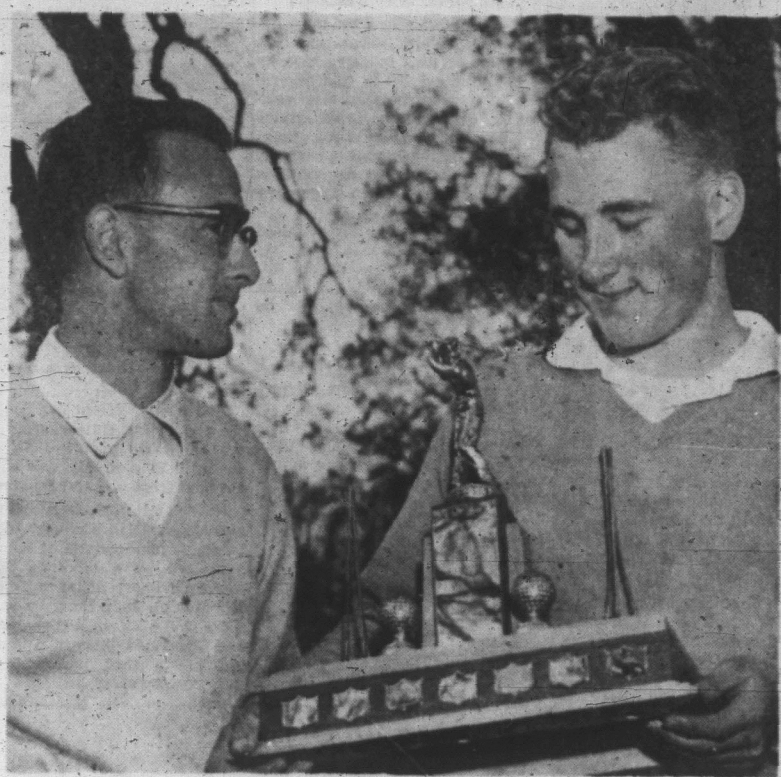

Not Boden.

"It's a funny thing," Norm said later, "but whenever I make a bad mistake, I play that much better."

"That bad shot did me more good than harm. It made me dig in that much more."

Boden birdied the next hole, halved the 33rd and then went two up when Bigelow conceded his young rival a four-foot birdie putt on the 34th.

Boden then slammed the door shut on the 35th when he halved the 270-yard hole with a par four.

HANDICAP CROWN

Vic Returns the Favor

One good turn deserves another.

Earl Francis, 17-year-old Victoria High School student, was the caddy last year when Viv Derman, then 15, captured the match-play handicap championship in the Times Vancouver Island tournament.

So it was Derman's turn to caddy this year as his golfing buddy from Gorge Vale succeeded him as holder of the Hugh Francis Trophy.

Earl is no relation to jeweller Hugh Francis, donor of the trophy.

Francis, junior captain at the Gorge course who plays to a nine handicap, downed Dr. Don Carlow, 3 and 1, in Sunday's final at Uplands. Earl, one down after 18, made good use of four strokes he got from his rival. He won three of the four-stroke holes.

But the turning point in the battle came on the 29th hole when Dr. Carlow, two down after winning the 28th, three-putted the 180-yard hole.

Then Francis, making good use of a stroke, went four up on the 30th and it was only a matter of time before he closed out the match. He did it in fine fashion, scoring a birdie three on the 35th hole for his 3-and-1 triumph.

Bucks Move into Lead Before Record Turnout

PORTLAND — Portland Buckaroos continued their winning ways on the ice at the gate Sunday.

They defeated Seattle Totems 5-3 to take a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven Western Hockey League final. And they pounded out the triumph before a record Sunday night crowd of 10,604 fans.

The playoff moves to Seattle Tuesday and Thursday where both teams will continue their saw-saw for the lead. A Saturday game will be played if necessary.

Totems won the first game 2-1 but Portland came back to take the second Friday 3-2 in overtime.

The Sunday game was played here because Seattle's ice arena was occupied by another attraction.

THIRD RECORD

The turnout is the third record Portland has set on its home games. Friday's attendance was 10,307. April 8, 10,254 fans watched Bucks, nip Spokane Comets 5-3 in a quarter-final game.

Forging ahead 2-0 in the first, Bucks were outscored 2-1 in the second and held Seattle to a single in the third.

High-scorer Gord Fashoway fired a goal and an assist to lead Portland's scoring. Other goals went to Art Jones, Arlo

There's Variety At Yakima Track

YAKIMA (AP) — A near capacity crowd of 3,900 turned out Saturday at the refurbished Yakima Meadows race track to inaugurate the state's most unusual racing program.

Bettors had their choice of picking quarter-horse or harness race winners or sticking with the thoroughbreds. There were nine races in all opening day—two quarter-horse, two harness and five thoroughbred.

Time is Running Out On Edmonton Juniors

EDMONTON (CP) — Time is running out on Edmonton's fifth attempt to win the Memorial Cup.

Edmonton Oil Kings take to the ice tonight against Toronto St. Michael's College Majors in the fourth game of the Canadian junior hockey championship series.

They must either win or face the prospect of losing four consecutive games in the best-of-seven series.

The stage was set Saturday night with Toronto's third straight win, a 4-2 decision to give them a 3-0 margin in the first Memorial Cup series played in Edmonton. The victory followed 4-0 and 4-1 decisions in favor of St. Michael's in the opening games.

RECORD POOR

Edmonton teams have little to be proud of in cup competition. In 1934 Edmonton Canadians went down in two consecutive games to a team from St. Michael's in a best-of-three series. Five years later Oshawa Generals swept past Canadians 3-1 in a best-of-five series.

In 1954 St. Catharines Teepees allowed Oil Kings only a tie as they won a best-of-seven series in five games. Last year, St. Catharines again was better than Oil Kings, winning the series 4-2.

A greater measure of success has gone to St. Michael's teams, who took the national junior trophy in 1934, 1935 and 1947, and this year could become the first four-time winner.

Willie Snaps Slump With 'Greatest Day'

By United Press International

Don't say hey, say Hallelujah for a guy who starts a ball game down in the dumps and ends up in the record book by smashing four home runs.

Who else could that be but amazing Willie Mays!

The soprano-voiced San Francisco centerfielder, who became the ninth player in major league history ever to hit four homers in a single game, was moaning low before Sunday's 14-4 massacre of Milwaukee.

He hadn't been able to buy a base hit in two previous games against the Braves and even Warren Spahn said he was "swinging bad."

Willie said he didn't think he was going to come out of his slump—that shows you what he knows about hitting—and then proceeded to drive in eight runs with a spectacular slugging show that boosted the Giants into first place in the National League.

Mays called it "the greatest day I ever had," and for corroboration you can check Loser Lew Burdette, off whom Willie hit his first two homers, Seth Morehead or Don McMahon.

each of whom was tagged for one.

A total of 10 homers were hit in the game played at Milwaukee's County Stadium. In addition to the four by Mays which raised his season's output to six, Jose Pagan hit two—his first in the majors—and Orlando Cepeda and Felipe Alou one each to help Billy Loes coast to his second victory. Hank Aaron hit two for the Braves to drive in all their runs.

The Giants, who hit five homers Saturday, equalled the major league record of 13 in two consecutive games, and their eight homers Sunday tied the major league mark for a single contest. The 10 homers by the two clubs Sunday also equalled a NL record.

Cincinnati ended an eight-game losing streak with a 4-2 win over Pittsburgh in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the Pirates won the opener, 6-3. Los Angeles beat Chicago, 2-1, in the first of two but the Cubs won the finale, 10-5. Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 11-7, in 10 innings.

TIGERS ON TOP

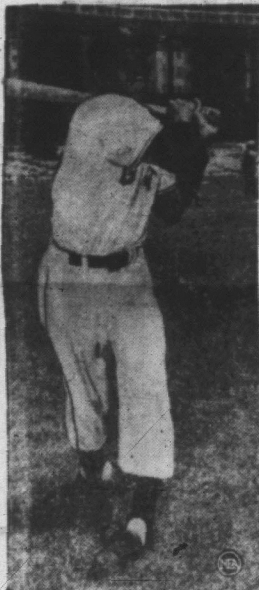

The Detroit Tigers retained the American League lead even though they split with Baltimore.

opener, 8-2, and Baltimore the nightcap, 4-2. The New York Yankees also split, beating the Washington Senators, 4-3, and then losing a 2-1 decision. Chicago beat Minnesota, 5-3, in 11 innings to take over sole possession of fourth place. Boston downed Cleveland, 2-0, then dropped the second game, 10-1, while the Los Angeles Angels topped the Kansas City A's, 6-4, in the first game but lost the second, 3-2.

Bob Purkey scored his third victory for the Reds in stopping the Pirates on six hits in the nightcap. Leo Cardenas collected three of Cincy's six hits off Joe Gibbon and drove in two runs. In the opener, Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer for the Pirates as Bob Friend won his fourth game with help from Roy Face in the ninth.

Tommy Davis' two-run homer off Glen Hobbie in the ninth brought the Dodgers from behind in their opener with the Cubs. The victory went to Larry Sherry, who took over for Don Drysdale in the eighth.

Palmer took the final hole at one over par and still won the $4,300 first money as Harney missed a long putt that would have given him a birdie. He went past the pin and then two-putted from 18 inches. Balding won $3,000.

Al Balding Nipped By Palmer Finish

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, returning to his role of golf's great clutch player Sunday, became the year's top tournament winner and closed in on young Gary Player in the race for the most money as he bagged the Texas Open.

With a dramatic finish, which saw Palmer fire an eagle on one of the closing holes, Arnie shot a three-under-par 68 for a 72-hole total of 270 and a one-stroke victory over Al Balding of Toronto. It was Palmer's fourth tournament triumph of the year.

Player, from South Africa, the leading money-winner and a three-tournament winner, tied for 14th place with 277 and won only $651. Player closed with a 74 as his putting was sour. Player has won $47,068.54 in 15 tournaments.

TORONTO ENTRY OVER-ALL LEADER

Victoria Driver Leads Class in Rally

TORONTO (CP) — More than 900 miles of rugged Northern Ontario roads faced drivers in the trans-Canada Rally today as they rolled toward Port Arthur in the second leg of the gruelling auto test.

By comparison, 106 cars in the 4,100-mile event to Vancouver from Montreal found Sunday's 350-mile section from Montreal to here a little more than a pleasant Sunday drive.

There were no casualties Sunday as complicated instructions sent entries mainly over paved highways, giving navigators a chance to practice with slide rules. But a treacherous strip of swamp and Alpine-like hills less than a half-mile long tested drivers' mettle and gave autos a sound thumping.

An entry from the Toronto Volkswagen Club took an early lead in over-all points in the Montreal-Toronto run. The vehicle was driven by T. P. Whitfield of suburban Downsview with B. V. Melville of Toronto as navigator.

The entry had the lowest penalty of 30 points; lost 30 points for lateness and gained 21 test marks. All three points combinations count in the event.

An entry from Trenton, N.J., was in second place with a penalty of 31 points, loss of time 31 points and four test marks.

In third place was a car from the Volvo plant in suburban Scarborough, driven by G. R. McMillan of Vancouver with G. D. Bendiksen of Richmond, B.C., as navigator.

An Ohio entry from Amherst was leading in the sports cars under 1600 CC class with a loss of 35 points, 35 for lateness and five test marks.

The Volkswagen Owners Club of Toronto was leading in sedans under 1600 CC class with a loss of 30 points.

In the over 1600 CC class, a Duncan, B.C., entry driven by G. Moffatt of Victoria was leading with a loss of 31 points.

DRC pitcher Stan Gibbs stole the show Sunday as the Gordon Head Little League raised the curtain on the 1961 baseball season.

The young moundsman started at bat and on the mound in spinning a three-hit, 9-0 shutout over Foresters. He backed up his hurling effort with a fancy four-for-four performance at the plate.

Westminster Provides Tough Test for Victoria

WITHDRAW right foot slightly from the line and body will turn slightly to the right and the golfer is in a closed stance.

Closed Stance
A golfer without a proper stance is like a building on a shaky foundation.

The stance is the base on which you build your game. If the setup is good, you will have a feeling of perfect balance, a sense of security, so to speak. You will be able to turn the hips and shoulders freely. The swing will be easier to groove than it will if you address the ball improperly.

Having the feet squarely planted will make it easier to perfect timing and coordination, so essential to the swinging. It enables you to hit more solidly through the ball. If, instead of facing the ball squarely with both feet, you withdraw the right foot slightly from the line, the body will turn slightly to the right and the golfer will be in what we call a closed stance.

The closed stance usually is preferable for the drive and other long shots, but it has its limitations, as you will learn.

Cox, Nelson In Tee Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Cox will meet Al Nelson next Sunday in the 18-hole final of the city-match play golf championship.

Playing Sunday between clouds, Cox, assistant professional at the old Shaughnessy golf course, defeated Point Grey amateur Johnny Russell, one-up.

Nelson, pro at Burquitlam, defeated Fraserview pro Doug McAlpine 2 and 1 to enter the final.

Next Sunday's round will be played at Point Grey.

NANAIMO—Wednesday is examination time, and Victoria's Inter-City Lacrosse League team couldn't be served a more tougher test than the one that is to be supplied by New Westminster.

The Royal City squad, convincing winners of three straight decisions that includes the pre-season Shrine Cup game, supplies the test in helping Victoria inaugurate the 1961 season.

EASY TRIUMPH
Westminster claimed its second straight league decision Saturday night, whipping Nanaimo 16-7 with a showing of form that might be expected at playoff time rather than at the start of the year.

A crowd of 1,851 fans sat in on the game again marked by iron-clad officiating. Referee Jack Northup and Bev Groves, following the ICLL's new crackdown policy, were kept busy dealing out 96 minutes in penalties.

Nanaimo, strenuously objecting to what it termed "sloppy officiating," drew 37 minutes. Westminster counted eight of its goals while holding the odd-man advantage.

VIOLATION
But the tight officiating still couldn't prevent one of the most vicious stick-swinging battles ever witnessed in Nanaimo. The battle between veteran Skip MacKay and New Westminster rookie Wayne Shuttlesworth resulted in both players drawing match and misconduct penalties.

Meanwhile, at Vernon, Vancouver's ICLL entry downed Vernon-Allison all-stars 15-2 in an exhibition before 300 fans Saturday. Vancouver completely outclassed the interior squad.

Bets on Sale Over Counter

LONDON (AP) — A betting revolution came to Britain today.

Anybody over 18 years old will be able to step into a brand new betting shop, place a cash bet and go back to collect the winnings—if any—as soon as the race is decided.

It will be as easy as buying a pound of sugar or a pack of cigarettes. And it will be completely legal.

The government decided to open the cash betting shops in an attempt to clear the streets and the pubs of street bookies—men who take bets anytime, anywhere. Such bets are illegal and will remain illegal.

Nobody quite knows how the big experiment will work since it has always been easy to make a legal off-track bet in Britain. Anyone can place a legal bet by telephone, wire or letter.

Previously, however, no cash changed hands. The betting has all been done on a credit basis, with the bookie and the bettor settling things at the end of a week or month.

The government has slapped many restrictions on the licensed owners of the new betting shops. They are not allowed to advertise.

The bookies will pay taxes on their takings. The bettors still will pay no tax on what they take from the bookies.

Six Swim Records Fall in B.C. Meet

There were no new Victoria names jotted down on the record roster after the spring block of the annual provincial swimming championships ended Saturday, but the city's two teams placed well against strong competition.

Six B.C. records were broken during the meet, which required 81 preliminary heats before the finals. A total of 320 swimmers took part in the championships at the Crystal Garden.

Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club won the team title with 302 points followed by Canadian Dolphin Swimming Club of Vancouver with 222, Victoria YMCA with 133, Victoria Amateur Swimming Club with 102, Vancouver YMCA with 77 and Vancouver Jericho Swim Club with 19.

Jones Extends Victory Skein

NEW YORK (AP) — Doug Jones, undefeated New York boxer making his debut as a heavyweight, knocked out one-time Olympic champion Pete Rademacher after 54 seconds of the fifth round at St. Nicholas Arena Saturday night.

Jones weighed 182 pounds and Rademacher 199.

Rademacher was downed twice in the fourth round and once in the fifth by left-right combinations before Jones sent him down for the full count with a left to the head.

It was the 18th straight victory and the 10th knockout for 24-year-old Jones. For Rademacher, 32, whose professional debut in 1957 was against heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, it was the fourth knockout defeat in 18 pro fights.

FIGHT RESULTS

NEW YORK — Doug Jones, 182, New York, knocked out Pete Rademacher, 199, Columbus, Ga., 34 seconds—fifth round.

MINNEAPOLIS — Del Flanagan, St. Paul, Minn., defeated Gert Van Heerden, then South African, was disqualified, eighth for low blows.

WELLS — Freddy Gilroy, 119, knocked Bonalton Belogard, 118, Algeria, seventh round.

CRASHES KILL TWO CYCLISTS

ADENAU, Germany (AP) — Two motorcycle riders, one a member of West Germany's world championship team, died Sunday after separate crashes at West Germany's Neurenberg Ring.

Alfred Wohlgemuth, who teamed with Helmuth Fath for the world title, died after he and Fath crashed on a curve while pursuing a Swiss cycle.

Fath was not seriously hurt.

Dickie Dale, 34, one of England's most promising riders, died of a brain hemorrhage, and other injuries while being taken to hospital.

New Team 'Sells' Schools Program

A team of 120 canvassers, sponsored by the schools for Saanich campaign committee, is engaged in promoting the $675,000 school building bylaw to be voted on Saturday by ratepayers in School District 63.

Stanley Oaks, committee chairman, said results so far have been "encouraging."

"People are beginning to believe that education in the district will cost less with the new building program than without it," he said. "Extra buses to accommodate children on shifts, and rented quarters are more expensive than schools."

WASTE OF TIME: "Canvassers continue to encounter amateur architects who could build schools much better than professionals, and amateur educators who know more about the school system than the department of education. We warn the canvassers not to try to argue with them—it's a waste of time."

7-Year Term For Assault

VANCOUVER—An Assize Court jury Friday convicted John Duncan Stewart, 36, on charges of attempted murder of Constable Robert Smith of the Whalley RCMP detachment, assaulting a police officer and assault causing bodily harm.

Mr. Justice D. R. Verchere sentenced Stewart to seven years for the attempted murder, two years on the second charge and one year on the third, the terms to run concurrently.

EXAMINATION PAPERS STOLEN FROM UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—A number of completed mechanical engineering examination papers were stolen from the University of British Columbia engineering building at the weekend.

Three hundred and fifty first-year students may have to write the exam "mechanical engineering 152" again in the fall, university officials said.

The theft was discovered Saturday. The thieves smashed a glass door and removed the papers from a drawer.

Officials said it was the first such theft from the university.

MORE TALKS SET

U.K. Common Market Pact Denied

LONDON (Reuters)—Trade chief Reginald Maudling denied Saturday night that the British government has decided in principle to join the European Common Market.

Maudling, president of the Board of Trade, was commenting on reports which said Britain would apply for membership provided negotiations are held on special provisions for difficult issues such as agriculture and Commonwealth preferences.

A diplomatic source said earlier Saturday that Britain would make the application, subject to this condition, after completing talks with individual members of the six-nation trade group.

These talks which have been under way since last fall, were expected to disclose exactly what technical difficulties have to be overcome before Britain can become a member, the source said.

A further round of discussions with French officials, devoted mainly to agricultural problems, will take place in London Tuesday and Wednesday.

The British government has so far not made known whether it is ready to take the plunge in adhering to the Rome treaty, which set up the Common Market.

ment has gone in public to offer to discuss a common or harmonized tariff with the Common Market.

But leaders of the Common Market countries—West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—have been pressing Britain to take such a step.

Britain's membership in the Common Market would presumably mean the break-up of the seven-nation European Free Trade Association, whose formation Britain fostered in an attempt to provide a counterweight to "the Six."

MONTE ROBERTS

An open letter to:
Gene Weidal,
817 South Sprague,
Tacoma, Wash., U.S.A.
Dear Gene:
Your letter, addressed to City Newspaper, Victoria, B.C., was intercepted by this native-born Canadian on its way to the circulation department.
I trust you remember your letter, Gene? It said "My room is studying Canada would you please send me a newspaper from your city."
The reason I intercepted your letter, Gene, is because I am happy to learn a citizen of the United States—indeed, a whole roomful of citizens—is studying the foreign country in which I live, namely, Canada.
I think it an excellent thing that citizens of the United States should study foreign countries, especially Canada.
Canada, Gene, is a foreign country not too far removed from your very own United States, and I have a feeling your Very Own President, Mr. Kennedy, will one day get around to studying Canada, too.
That is, after he has finished studying other foreign nations such as Russia, Africa, China, and a teeny-weeny foreign country with the improbable and mainly unpronounceable name of Laos.
The reason, Gene, your Very Own President hasn't spared too much time studying Canada is simple to explain. Canada doesn't do much fussing and fuming at the United States, and very seldom says: "OK, wise guy, step out in the alley and we'll settle this."
A foreign nation which goes along, quietly minding its own business, isn't worthy of a great deal of study.
Possibly this is due to the fact the people who now live in—and were born in—Canada—came from the same grandfathers and great-grandfathers and great-great-grandfathers as did the people who now live in—or were born in—the United States of America.
I am sure all the other people of Canada will be as pleased as I am that your room is studying us, Gene.
Please drop me a line and let me know how you make out.
Sincerely,
MONTE ROBERTS.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Window washer Elvin Slater, 26, of 801 Roderick, is in "fair" condition with head, cuts and concussion received in a 10-foot tumble to the sidewalk when he slipped from a ladder Saturday afternoon.
He was washing windows at Yates and Douglas Bank of Nova Scotia.

Third annual Vic-Van-Isle Kinsmen boat show in the Curling rink earned a profit of approximately $4,000, club officials announced today.
It will be put to uses in Greater Victoria which are yet to be decided, they said.
Attendance at the three-day show April 6-8 was 10,030.

Smoke from a smouldering TV set awoke the Fred Jensen family at their 1279 Simon Street home before a fire got under way early Saturday.
Saanchi fire department was called at 4:28 a.m. and firemen carried the faulty set outside.
Cause of the trouble was a shorted electrical circuit. The set had not been used recently.

Body of a Victoria man who disappeared two months ago was recovered floating in the Inner Harbor near CPR docks Sunday morning.
The remains were identified as those of Robert Kennedy, about 50. An unemployment insurance book in that name was found in the clothing with an empty wallet.

St. Louis College Mothers' Club will meet in the college tonight at 8. Guest speaker will be Fr. Janvrt. Non-members may attend.

Robert F. Williams, 1012 Finlayson Avenue, will represent B.C.'s 134,000 credit union members at the annual meeting of the international organization of credit unions being held in Montreal next week.

Some 2,000 delegates from all over the world are expected to take part in the week-long international session.

Three venerable automobiles arrived here Saturday for a test of a route to be followed by an estimated 135 ancient late in June.

The large party will make the tour following the annual convention of the Horseshoe Carriage Club of America in Seattle.
Purpose of the test run was to make sure the delicate innards of the other old-timers will not be overtaxed by heavy grades or forced high speed.

A reunion of former teachers and students of Tillamook School from 1916 to 1941 has been planned for 8 p.m. on May 19 at the school.
Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Joan Smith at EV 4-6095, or from Mrs. Ada Bone at EV 5-5598.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What is today's population of Greater Vancouver, including North and West Vancouver and Burnaby? A.M.C.
A. About 567,750 persons. Vancouver proper has a population of 385,000; West Vancouver, 23,000; the district of North Vancouver, 36,250; the city of North Vancouver (adjacent), 23,500; and Burnaby, 100,000.

Q. During "500 rummies" a pack is exhausted and neither side can play. What is the correct way to arrive at a winner? A.T.
A. Two play variations are possible: either turn the discard pile over and continue play, or count the point total of unmatched cards on both sides. One with lower count is winner.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.
All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. No fee will be attempted to put a value on opinions, stamps or signatures. These should be submitted to a dealer.

It's off to Britain this summer for Sally Price and Gillian Gerry, both of Victoria, two high school girls who are among 18 other young Canadians leaving Montreal July 6 on the annual Commonwealth Youth Movement's trip to the United Kingdom.

Dianne Garrison of Qualicum High School will complete the trio of Island students making the trip.

A "customized" car offered as a special prize by Quarter Milers' car club in connection with their Autorama to Jazz Friday and Saturday was won by Peter Wright, 1236 Faithful.

Attendance this year was 7,000 for the two days, up 2,000 over that at the show a year ago.
A mystery car on exhibition at the show was not identified.

The Victoria Centre of the Royal Canadian College of Organists will hold a Festival of Choral Music in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Thursday, May 4, at 8 p.m.

St. Alban's 50-Up Club will meet on Thursday in the parish hall on Ryan Street at 2.15.

ROYALTY EXHIBITS DRAW CRITICISM

4,000 Visit Wax Museum Over Weekend

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Victoria's first waxwork museum got off to a flying start over the weekend with a total attendance of nearly 4,000.

"We are delighted with the encouraging sendoff," said John Steele, managing director of the Royal London Wax Museum. "There have, of course, been some critical comments but the overall reaction is favorable."

U.S. VISITORS

More than 2,000 men, women and children—many from the United States—paid for admission to the museum in the Crystal Garden between 9.30 a.m. and 10.30 p.m. Saturday.

A further 1,000, mainly Victorians, viewed the exhibits Sunday afternoon and evening, and there was an attendance of more than 900 invited guests at two previews Friday evening.

CRITICISM

Main controversy centres around the waxwork figures of the Queen, Prince Philip, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Many viewers thought the face of the Queen was barely recognizable, although the regalia she wears is exact to the last detail.

Other likenesses of the royal family have come in for some criticism, but the figure of the Archbishop of Canterbury, included in this group, is regarded as "lifelike."

NEW ATTEMPT

The many and varied comments on the exhibits are being relayed back to the staff of Josephine Tussaud in London, who fashioned them.

"Seven attempts were made to fashion a likeness of the Queen," Mr. Steele said, "and it is likely that another attempt will be made."

"Her Majesty has a noble personality, but it is elusive and difficult to convey in wax. The reproduction in the London Museum has also come in for a lot of criticism."

"Almost every painter and photographer seems to get a different impression of her."

Canterbury, Napoleon, French Premier General de Gaulle, President Roosevelt, Stalin and Mark Twain are among the most lifelike.
Only one of the famous London "chamber of horrors" figures is included. This shows a woman hanging from an "Algerian hook."

For the male figures, human hairs were planted in the wax during manufacture, then shaved. Otherwise the stubble effect could not be reproduced, Mr. Steele said.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, MAY 1, 1961—PAGE 17

New Ferry Delivery Promised by Feb. 1

'I Declare Keel Well, Truly Laid'

Keel was laid today for the B.C. government's third Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry with a promise she will be delivered for service next Feb. 1.

Name of the ferry was not announced by Premier W. A. C. Bennett as he introduced Mrs. Percy Scourrah to "do the honors" at a ceremony this morning in Victoria. Machinery Depot's Ogden Point shipyard. But choice of the wife of Victoria's mayor could be the clue to the name.

VMD president Harold Husband promised the vessel will be "launched in October with delivery next February. Delivery of the fourth government ferry, to be built in Vancouver, will be next April 15.

BIGGER, BETTER

The VMD ferry—they built Mv. Sidney, which opened service last June 15—will be bigger than her sisters and includes a number of improvements.

She will carry 1,000 passengers—against 600 in Sidney and Tsawwassen—and 110 cars. She is longer, 342 feet, against 321, and two feet wider—76 feet.

She will be fully air-conditioned and will have a special elevator from the car deck to the promenade deck.

She will also have special propellers in the bow to make manoeuvring easier, and to avoid such mishaps as the grinding scrape which marred Sidney's debut last summer, as she hit a dolphin at Swartz Bay.

SAVED VMD

Mr. Husband told more than 100 guests at VMD today that the government's first ferry contract had saved his firm.
But, he warned: "At present we have no further work on our books."

One hope in sight, he said, is for a federal contract to build a new weather ship. Transport Minister Leon Balcer has promised, he said, to introduce a program of assistance to Canadian shipbuilders at the current session of Parliament.

The first step in actual construction of the new $3,600,000 ferry was when Mrs. Scourrah guided the 33-ton steel keel in to the dock with her pink-gloved hand. A giant crane lowered the keel into place.

"I declare this keel well and truly laid," said Mrs. Scourrah.

BIT OF SUN

The ceremony was delayed 15 minutes to 11.30, said Mr. Husband, in the hope that the sun would shine through watery clouds.

Just as the premier introduced Mrs. Scourrah, the sun did peek through for an instant.

STERN SECTION of new ferry keel hangs from derrick hook just before being moved into position for ceremony at VMD today. (Times photo.)

Liberal Chief Coming Here For Two Days

National Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson will spend two days in Victoria this month to wind up his party's campaign for the Esquimalt-Saanich seat in Parliament.

Mr. Pearson arrives May 24 to help candidate David Groos in the byelection. The party leader will speak in Mount View High School that night.

THREE MPs

Three other Liberal MPs will join the campaign before voting day, May 29.

Next Monday, Judy LaMarsh, new MP for Niagara, will speak at St. Andrew's Church hall.

Liberal defence critic Paul Hellyer will speak May 10 in Colwood Community Hall.

Former health minister Paul Martin will address a meeting May 15 at Tillamook School.

LETTER ARRIVES 49 YEARS LATE

By LES MILLIN

Neither rain, sleet, the dark of night nor the ravages of time will prevent the mail from reaching its destination, as at least one Victorian has found out.

Dave Nicol, well-known Victorian who formerly coached two Canadian championship Victoria basketball teams, has just received a notice from his lodge which took 49 years to reach him.

Mailed in 1912 in Victoria, the letter bore postmarks and stamps indicating that it had sojourned in the United States for most of that time, having visited New York, Los Angeles, and other American cities which were not readily identifiable on the "elderly" envelope.

Ironically, the letter was addressed to Mr. Nicol at his home in Victoria, and he was in Victoria for most of the time that the letter was circulating.

PARTLY EXPLAINED

The mystery can be partially explained.

"I took out first United States citizenship papers in 1908," said Mr. Nicol, "and I visited all but two of the states during my time in the U.S."

Why the letter left Canada in the first place remains a puzzle.

City Driver Hurlled Through Windshield

A Victoria man was hurled through his car windshield and taken to hospital with "serious injuries" when the vehicle overturned on Tunnel Hill shortly after 11 a.m. today.

Langford volunteer ambulance raced with the unidentified man, his wife and young son to St. Joseph's Hospital after the car went out of control and was wrecked on the treacherous crest of the Majahat hill.

The hospital said the woman and child were not seriously hurt.

Colwood RCMP investigated the accident, latest in a series of auto crashes at or near the same spot.

TWO TRUCKS

In another accident on Saturday, the collision of two trucks caused heavy damage at Wilkinson and Lindsay.

Saanich police said there was about $100 damage to a concrete fence uprooted by one of the trucks at the home of Peter Kimoff, 444 Wilkinson, and about $750 damage to the trucks.

One driven by Donald Kennedy, 189 Helmcken, crashed into the concrete after collision with a pickup driven by Francis Ingram, 3059 Washington.

Funeral Tuesday For Mrs. Jones

Funeral services for Mrs. Edna Beatrice Jones, wife of Evan S. Jones, former B.C. deputy minister of highways, will be held at Hayward's chapel at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

She died Saturday following a prolonged illness.

Widely known in British Columbia, Mrs. Jones was born in Owen Sound, Ont.

She is survived by the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Gordon Cameron and Mrs. William Dalziel of Victoria; one son, Evan L. Jones, West Vancouver; nine grandchildren and two sisters.

Members of the family have asked that no flowers be sent.

QUEENIE MAY GO

City parks committee is considering "disposing of" Queenie—the well-known horse used by the department in Beacon Hill Park.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren today asked permission to dispose of the horse—complaining she cost $1 a day to feed and was only half as efficient as a truck would be making the garbage-collecting rounds.

Parks committee delayed an answer to his request until its next meeting in a couple of weeks time.

"Maybe someone will come forward and donate enough money to set up a foundation for keeping her," suggested Ald. A. W. Toone.

Queenie, who spends her off hours in the animal pen, is a favorite among children who feed the inhabitants of the park.

Buy Perfume Made by Firm That Served Horatio Nelson

By PENNY SAVER

If you've been looking for perfume for a Mother's Day gift I'd suggest taking a peek at line of English perfumes that are exclusive to store I was in this week. They're made by a firm that has its shop in London's famous Jermyn Street. It began business in 1730 and it's rumored that Lord Nelson had his wigs perfumed by the staff!

Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret use this perfume, the Queen liking one named Special No. 127 while Princess Margaret has chosen another called Ormonde. There's a fragrant perfume made from grasses that's titled, "New Mown Hay" while other lines include stephanotis, honey-suckle, tansy, red rose, verveine, Roman hyacinth, rose geranium, violet and sandalwood. All sell at $3.50 for bottle containing half an ounce.

Cologne in the same fragrances is priced at $2.50 for bottle containing two ounces. Just a drop of the essence that's priced at $3.50 for bottle containing 1½ ounces will perfume a bath and make you feel like a queen!

Another product made by this well-known firm is a perfume vaporizer. For $3.50, you can get kit that has two asbestos rings, an eye dropper and vial containing half an ounce of either tansy, sandalwood, Roman hyacinth or jasmine perfume.

Drop a little perfume on one of the rings and place ring on light bulb. As the bulb warms the delicate fragrance will lend a delicate aroma to any room while stale tobacco odors are absorbed.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For Best Results, Safety—
Follow These Tips on Tanning

Soon thousands of people will begin turning tan under the rays of the sun. While the outdoors and the sun are health giving, suntanning can be dangerous and even fatal when carried to extremes.

There is no doubt that some folks detract from their well being rather than add to it by extreme tanning.

It is the invisible ultra-violet ray which does the tanning. For this reason many people are fooled by a cloudy day. They cannot see the sunshine and so they think that there is no danger of overexposure. Some of the worst burns are gotten on days such as this.

It is wise to begin sunbathing in the spring before the weather and the sun's rays become so severe. With the first pink skin blush, cover up or get out of the sun. Tanning should be done gradually even if you use a sun oil. If you remain in the sun until your skin feels hot and burning, you have already stayed in the sunlight too long.

The woman who wishes to avoid lines for as long as possible and especially the one who has a dry complexion, should go very slowly on sunbathing. She should use one of the screening lotions or oils, wear a big hat when possible and sit under an umbrella whenever possible. This woman also will profit by sunning early in the morning or late in the afternoon rather than during the middle hours of the day.

Some complexions respond much better to direct sunlight than others. Repeated exposures thicken the outer layers of the skin. The thin skin may react with rashes and blisters rather than a lovely tan.

Unusual pigmentation and brown spots often appear after a summer. In the sun. This is very likely to happen from middle age on. Protective measures will help you enjoy the outdoors without these penalties.

Fraser Institute Wins

The Fort Fraser Women's Institute has won first prize in the province-wide handicraft competition sponsored by the British Columbia Women's Institute in co-operation with a well-known food company.

Competition was for the making of hooked chair seat covers, an art that is popular in other parts of Canada but relatively new to British Columbia. Officials of the provincial organization said the competition had focused attention on this art, and colored slides of the winning entries will be shown to Women's Institutes throughout the province to cultivate further interest.

Second prize goes to the Sayward W.I. Consolation prize winners are the Women's Institutes of Pemberton, Victoria, Ryder Lake, Pentteton, Wynndel and Harrop.

Presentation of the cash prizes will be made by Mrs.

R. Partington, Francois Lake, provincial president of the British Columbia Women's Institutes, during visits to the various districts in the next few weeks.

Lachasse of London

Lachasse of London does a dress that puts on garden party airs with its charming bodice and gracious skirt. The flattering neckline curve is rimmed with a shaped collar that disappears under pleated softness. The shoulders widen into tiny sleeves to show off upper arms. Deep box pleats in front are merged with a group of small back pleats to shape a pretty skirt that behaves in a very ladylike manner. Make it now in plain or printed cottons, silk or rayon, shantung or linen; for fall parties choose taffeta, faille or peau de soie. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. Our sizing is comparable to ready-to-wear.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

Tonight's Premiere Showing Has a Two-Way Interest

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Are you a lover of ballet? Do you also enjoy the concert presented during the winter season by our own Victoria Symphony Orchestra?

If you answer "yes" to both these questions, then you should be interested in the premiere performance of the Royal Ballet film at the Odeon Theatre tonight.

Forbes

This first night showing is sponsored by the Women's Committee to the Victoria Symphony Society and the sponsors have arranged some interesting side attractions you will be sure to enjoy.

For instance, in the foyer you will find attractive young ballerinas from the Wynne Shaw School in tableaux arranged to put you in the mood for the glory of the film.

After the showing, every member of the audience is invited to attend a reception in the foyer, hosted by the symphony women's committee.

I'm sure I don't need to tell you that the Royal Ballet film features the incomparable Margot Fonteyn with Michael Somes.

Second act of the beloved Swan Lake, also The Firebird and Ondine, will be presented. Last named is the story of a rich nobleman who marries a water-sprite. It's a lovely thing—a poetic story with modern music of great lyrical quality. If it had been kept exclusively for the stage it would have been seen by thousands perhaps. Adapted for ballet and included in the Royal Ballet film, it will be seen by millions.

Dr. Paul Zinner, the man who made this memorable film, also screened the Bolshoi Ballet.

If you remember the Bolshoi Ballet film—and if you saw it—you could never forget it—you will have some idea of what is in store for you tonight.

All this week, for that matter. But if you attend tonight's premiere showing you will not only enjoy your ballet but you will also be helping Victoria's own symphony orchestra. Think about it!

Five women Senators were present in the Parliamentary Restaurant of the House of Commons at Ottawa when one of their number gave a coffee party for CARE. St. Ann's Spring Fete Draws Crowd

It was a gala day at St. Ann's Academy, Saturday, when hundreds of pupils, parents and friends attended the annual spring fete held by the St. Ann's Parents' Association. His Excellency, Bishop J. H. H. opened the affair and was greeted by the Sister Superior, Sister Monica Marie, and L. Ritz, association president. Grade VI pupils sang a welcoming song.

General conveners were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allison and Mrs. L. Gill.

Grade VIII pupils, under convenership of Sister Mary Antonius, convened a Penny Carnival to which all pupils up to and including Grade VIII contributed. Iris in academy's colors, golden candles in silver candelabra were on the head-table refreshment table in the boarders' recreation room. Individual tables were centred with nosegays of bluebells and primulas.

Serviteurs were Mrs. E. Hartnell, Mrs. L. Ketcheson, Mrs. F. Griffin, Mrs. J. Gordon, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. G. Arnett, Mrs. B. Doherty and Mrs. R. Lundy.

Festoons of gold and blue balloons decorated the school cafeteria where the bazaar was held. Stall conveners were: Home cooking, Mrs. W. Haynes; candy, Mrs. J. McGowan; lucky seven, Mrs. J. Jellinek; needlework, Mrs. M. Griffin; novelties and attic treasures, Mrs. T. Pye; tomatoes, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kay; pop and ice cream, Howard Nuttall; publicity, Mrs. Arthur Baxter; evening coffee, Mrs. F. Davies; door receipts, Mrs. J. Rey; games, M. Griffin; aprons, Mrs. W. Brown, and bingo, J. White.

A "cage" complete with a variety of stuffed animals was a huge success. Toys were made and sold by Sister Mary Lucinda and Sister Mary-Petronella.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Hewitt, 3838 Quadra Street, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday with an "at home" for their friends both afternoon and evening. They were married on April 29, 1911, in St. Ann's Church, Nottingham, England. A son, A. H. Hewitt, Victoria, and a daughter, Mrs. J. A. Parker (Ida) of Chase, B.C., were present for the celebration. There are two grandchildren.

Fashion Showings Presented Stylings For Average Purse

The days of the "privileged draped bodice and cleverly few" are out as far as fashion draped overskirt.

At two showings of "Terylene Showtime, 1961" held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room, Saturday, local women saw breathtaking fashions in versatile terylene. All were priced within range of the average pocket book.

Shows, with Mrs. Norma Wildgoose as commentator, were sponsored by the Evening Opt-Mrs. Club in the morning and by the Victoria Kinetex Club in the afternoon.

Full range of fashions included men's, women's and children's wear with outfits for sun, rain and formal occasions.

Audiences were spellbound when "Younger Than Springtime," an outstanding formal gown and evening coat of terylene crepe and sheer, designed by Olivia of Hamilton, was shown. Apple green terylene sheer was used for the coat which swept back in filmy fullness. Worn underneath was a dramatic gown with apple green roses splattered over a white background.

For the more mature woman there was good news in the inexpensive afternoon gown of terylene crepe, designed to fit larger sizes. Blue and amethyst Roman medallions were dotted on a white background of the gown which featured a Like so many terylene products, raincoat is completely washable. Another feature that met with unanimous approval was its drip dry qualities.

DEAR ABBY

The Beginning of the End!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: Below is a letter about women's shoes which provoked more than 100,000 replies in less than one week. And the letters and postcards are still pouring in:

"Dear Abby:
I am sick of hearing the beefs about pointed shoes for women. The reason we sell so many is because you women must want them."
(Signed) Shoe Salesman.
"Dear Shoe Salesman:
Please don't tell me what we women want. We take what we can get. I am convinced that the sack dress,

Woman Nearly Itches To Death

"I nearly itched to death
7 1/2 years. Then I found a new wonder cream. Now
I'm happy," writes Mrs.
P. Ramsey of L.A. Calif.
Here's blessed relief from tormenting, itchy, red, itchy, itching, rash and eczema with an amazing new scientific formula called LANACANE. This fine-acting medicated cream kills harmful bacteria germs while it soothes raw, irritated and inflamed skin. Stops scratching—no more itching!
Don't suffer! Get LANACANE at drug stores.

those goofy mile-high hair-dos (that no woman can comb herself) and those hideous, pointed-toe shoes were designed by men who hate women and want to make them look as ridiculous as possible. If there is a national shoe manufacturers' association, please give me the address. I would like to send them all the mail I receive from women who protest the new shoe styles. A letter (or postcard) to this column will help—and I lead all the rest."
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN.

The response, in my opinion, is overwhelming evidence that the majority of women DO NOT want the stylish pointed toes and needle heels that have been forced upon them. Thousands of girls and women have written to say they now have corns, bunions and blisters blooming where they never bloomed before. Physicians, podiatrists and chiropodists have written to applaud my campaign for the return of same footwear for women.

I have heard from a few (very few) women who say they like the pointed toes.
Fine! Let them wear them.
But there should be something equally fashionable on the market for those who cannot wear pointed shoes but have bought them out of desperation.

In addition to torturing the human foot, the "stylish" shoes have been responsible for countless accidents when the tiny steel-tipped heel gets caught in escalators, shag rugs, crevices and gratings.

And the damage to floor surfaces from the stiletto heels can no longer be dismissed as trifling.

I am sending the bale of mail on female shoes to the Shoe Manufacturers' Association in New York, with the following (and concluding) plea:

"Please do what you can,
when you can, gentlemen, to liberate the captive feet of womanhood. It's not fair and it's not fun to hurt from the ground up in the name of fashion!"
Sincerely,
Abigail Van Buren.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who has a pet peeve. It is people who ask me how old I am. I think that is a very personal question and I don't like to answer it. Yet, I find myself getting flustered, and I end up by answering anyway.

How can I get out of telling them without being rude?

OVER FORTY.

DEAR OVER: Smile and say, "If you will forgive me for not answering that question, I will forgive you for asking."

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to Abby, 205 Park Road, Burl-

LOCAL BRIEFS

Fifteenth annual Canadian citizenship day ceremony will be marked by observances at 3 p.m. June 18, on the steps of the Legislative Buildings.

Among those attending will be Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes.

Next naturalization ceremony will be held in the court-house May 11. Victoria Chamber of Commerce, under auspices of the Citizenship Council, will participate.

Major J. A. Huot of the army's directorate of infantry in Ottawa will visit Victoria from Thursday to Monday, May 8, as part of a tour of infantry units in western Canada.

He will interview members of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, and discuss future career planning with the regular army soldiers.

GARRY MOORE

DOUBLE LIFE OF A TV STAR

Morning, Mr. Moore Evening, Mr. Morfit

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Every weekday morning a slight man with a crewcut, a friendly grin and that commuter's trade-mark, the slim-attache case, walks into a Manhattan office building and heads for his office.

En route, he is greeted by "Good morning, Mr. Moore" and "Hi, Garry."

Most evenings, the same man rides back to his home in suburban Rye, N.Y., and is greeted by "Good evening, Mr. Morfit" and "Hi, Garry."

Television's Garry Moore, born Thomas Garrison Morfit, has deliberately chosen to live this double life. During his working hours he has one identity and in his private life, he maintains another.

"It can be very dangerous, having such a well-known face," said Moore with utter seriousness. "When you go into restaurants you're likely to get preferential treatment. When you go out someplace they clear a way for you. And pretty soon you get to believe that you deserve it."

Moore says he doesn't want preferential treatment.

USE MORFIT
His wife and two children, Mason, 21, a Harvard student, and 18-year-old Garry, Jr., in prep school, invariably use the Morfit name.

Recently, when the younger boy sailed one of Moore's boats to New York from Florida on the inland waterway a local newspaper became interested in the craft. It printed a story on the boat but identified young Garry only as "Garrison Morfit, Jr."

"He doesn't want any preferential treatment either," said Moore with obvious satisfaction.

A-WEAPON BAN PETITION

TORONTO (CP) — First copies of a petition calling for a ban on nuclear weapons on Canada were circulated in Metropolitan Toronto Sunday as part of a nationwide canvass by the Canadian Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards.

Rabbi Abraham Feinberg, chairman of the committee's Toronto branch, predicted hundreds of thousands of Canadians will sign the petition, to be presented to the federal government.

BEFORE ITALY VISIT

Royal Couple on Cruise

(Times News Services)

CAGLIARI, Sardinia — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were cruising off the Sardinian coast Sunday as Italy prepared to greet the royal couple for an official state visit starting Tuesday.

They left Cagliari harbor on board the Royal yacht Britannia Sunday after a 15-hour delay caused by trouble with the port propeller.

Divers worked through the night to clear the screw which was fouled by a berthing wire when the vessel entered the harbor from Tunisia Saturday morning, with Queen Mother Elizabeth on board. The Queen Mother later flew to London.

After the short cruise the Queen and the Prince will arrive in Naples Tuesday for an official visit. From there they will go to Rome where they will be greeted by President Giovanni Gronchi. On Friday they will have an audience with Pope John.

This is the first state visit by a reigning British monarch to Italy since King George V came in 1923.

Train Crash Kills 11
ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters) — Eleven persons were killed outright Sunday night, two died later in hospitals and at least 50 were hurt when a train laden with weekenders from a seaside resort piled into the rear of an express train at nearby Kartal.

Youth Electrocutd

TORONTO (CP) — A 16-year-old youth was electrocuted Sunday when the metal control cable of his model airplane touched a 115,000-volt high tension line. The crackling bolt set fire to the clothing of the victim, Kenneth Grant.

New Red Cease-Fire Plan Studied in Laotian Crisis

RAILWAY WAGE TALKS BREAK DOWN

OTTAWA (CP)—Railway union negotiations in Montreal aimed at averting a nation-wide railway strike set for May 16 have collapsed, it was learned today.

The government is understood to have been informed today that last-ditch talks in Montreal failed to break an impasse in the multi-million-dollar wage dispute between the major railways and 111,000 of their non-operating employees.

The abrupt end of the negotiations once again confronts the federal government with a fast-moving crisis that could erupt into a transcontinental railway tie-up May 16 unless solved.

The railways are understood to have offered a compromise settlement that would not have provided a full retroactive pay boost for 1960.

RUSK:

No U.S. Plan To Use Arms Against Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk assured investigating senators today the United States has no plans for armed intervention in Cuba.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) said Rusk made this clear during three hours of closed-door interrogation by the Latin American affairs subcommittee of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Morse, the subcommittee chairman, reported Rusk made an able, factual "and open-breasted" statement concerning the U.S. role in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba.

Morse quoted Rusk as saying the invasion decision was made by the Cuban refugees themselves, but that they did have arms, financial and training assistance from the United States.

Rusk was the leadoff witness in the subcommittee's effort to pin down the extent of U.S. involvement in the Cuban invasion fiasco.

Morse said "Mr. Rusk made it clear that rumors and statements that the United States is planning, because of the bloody nose we suffered, further military intervention in Cuba has no basis in fact whatsoever."

WIRE BRIEFS

Baby Beaten to Death

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Police said today an 18-month-old baby was apparently killed and beaten to death during a drinking party at the nearby Cheam Indian Reserve. Police are holding the boy's parents on drinking charges.

B.C. Motorist Killed

PRINCETON (CP)—Jerome Peter Hart, 22, of Princeton, was killed today when his car went out of control on Highway 3 near here and struck a large boulder.

4 Safe in Arctic

WINNIPEG (CP)—Four men whose plane disappeared in an Arctic flight 700 miles from the North Pole were found safe and well early today the RCAF reported.

Parley on Strike

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan called a meeting of government ministers today to consider a spreading wildcat strike among London dockworkers.

Fire in Liner's Hold

HALIFAX (CP)—The 7,400-ton liner Nofa Scotia returned to port today with a fire burning in a hold. Firemen immediately sealed off the after hold when the ship docked.

Girls' Bodies Found

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI)—The bodies of two girls, aged 11 and 12, missing since Saturday were found today less than half a mile from their homes and police were searching for 16-year-old James Scott Stephens, charged with murder in their slayings.

KEY SPOTS in news from Laos today are Ban Namon, where pro-communist rebels suggested cease-fire meeting; Ban Keun (A), under Red attack; and Nam Tha (B) believed next object of rebel drive. Communist-controlled area is shaded. (AP Wirephoto).

ASTRONAUT READY

100-1 Odds He'll Make It

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A highly-trained American astronaut will try to get some sleep tonight knowing that in the morning he may rocket into space.

The odds are 100 to 1 that he will come through without harm, experts say.

Some time after dawn he may be strapped into a space capsule atop a relatively puny rocket.

Perhaps 100 minutes later the Redstone rocket will fling him 115 miles up and 200 miles out over the Atlantic.

However, a prediction of bad weather today raised some doubts whether the shot would go as planned. If present forecasts hold, the weather may not be suitable in all respects until the last half of the week.

The Redstone is less than a tenth as powerful as the monster rocket that shot Russian Yuri Gagarin on a space trip around the world in 108 minutes last month.

SHOT FIRST STEP

Tuesday's planned shot is the first step in a program that will—before the year is out—give an American the same thrilling ride around the globe.

Of the two possible space pilots, whose names are still secret, one will go and one will be on the ready, should something—even a slight cold—disqualify the first.

The chosen two were picked from three men: John Herschel Glenn, a Marine Corps lieutenant colonel from Concord, Ohio; Alan Bartlett Shepard, a navy commander from East Derry, N.Y.; and Virgil Ivan Grisson, an air force captain from Mitchell, Ind.

Elaborate safety precautions have been taken—the astronaut will wear a suit filled with pure oxygen in case his space capsule is damaged.

There are two radio channels, two microphones, and if they fail, a telegraph key.

The automatic systems that release the parachutes are backed by manual systems operated by the pilot. There is a spare parachute as well. Radio beacons to help ships locate the capsule in the water are backed up by radio systems. The capsule carries a special flashing light, and dyes to color the water.

In the water, if the capsule should leak, the astronaut can escape aboard a life raft.

TV TIME UNCERTAIN

While major TV networks are planning "live" coverage of the U.S. attempt to shoot a man through space in a rocket, none were able to give any confirmed time today for the telecast. Forecast time for the shoot, weather and other conditions permitting, has been given as 7 a.m. EST, Tuesday, which would be 5 a.m. Victoria time. It is suggested television viewers want to see the event keep a close check on stations for announcements tonight.

Negro Strike Brings Riots

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—Tension continued today at Warmbaths, a small resort town about 100 miles north of Johannesburg, after a night of clashes between police and Africans striking against a white official.

Reports said one African was killed and four injured when police opened fire on an African mob that was stoning them.

The government suspended the white official, Martinus van Coller, the municipal officer for non-white affairs. The Africans objected to his return to duty after the Supreme Court set aside his conviction—and a six-month prison sentence—on a charge of having sexual relations with a non-white.

MAID BEATEN FOR WORKING STRUCK HOTEL

TORONTO (CP)—A 42-year-old maid at the Royal York Hotel, hired since a strike began eight days ago at the hotel, told police she was beaten by three women a half-block from the picket lines early today.

She said the women knocked her to the ground, kicked her and accused her of taking their jobs away.

10 Miles Separates War, Peace

(Times News Services)

VIENTIANE, Laos—Laotian government officials studied a new proposal from the Communist-supported rebels today to determine if the two sides could agree on a site for a cease-fire conference.

Radio Hanoi, voice of Communist North Viet Nam, said Sunday the rebels would be willing to meet delegates of this pro-Western government at the jungle village of Na Mon, about six miles from the rebel-held town of Yang Vieng.

Since Saturday Royal Laotian forces have had a 1,500-member truce delegation at the village of Ban Khy, just 10 miles from Na Mon, waiting in vain for a rebel delegation to show up.

Now the question was whether the two sides could close the last 10 miles.

CHANGE STAND

Some Laotian officials felt the fact that the rebels backed down on their demand to hold cease-fire talks in their northern stronghold of Xieng Khouang indicated they were getting serious about a truce.

But Western observers said it appeared unlikely the rebels would give up the offensive which has been rolling back government troops the past week.

King Savang Vathana opposes a 14-nation peace conference on Laos, Cambodia's Prince Norodon Sihanouk said today. This might throw up another roadblock to a cease-fire.

Sihanouk has been acting in a role of mediator in the civil conflict and it was he who first suggested the 14-nation conference. The Communist-led rebels made this the cornerstone of their peace proposals.

Sihanouk talked to reporters on a stopover here from Luang Prabang, the Laotian royal capital.

MORE ACTIVE ROLE

The impact of the king's decision is difficult to assess. The king by tradition stands aloof from politics. But as the crisis deepened in Laos he took a more active role in trying to settle the conflict and the pro-Western government listened to his counsels.

Sihanouk and W. Averell Harriman, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, have been conferring with the king.

Sihanouk told a press conference in Vientiane that the king insisted the Laotian factions must settle their problems themselves.

President Kennedy was to call in the National Security Council again today to weigh a more active role for the United States in Laos.

This is the fourth session for the strategy group within 10 days.

Meanwhile, the United States cancelled the airlift of 6,000 troops to Europe for a planned NATO exercise.

Kennedy cut short his weekend rest in the Virginia countryside Sunday to review the Laotian crisis with government officials.

CASTRO

TOURE

LENIN PEACE PRIZES have been awarded by Russia to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro for his dedication to "the struggle of the peoples for freedom and independence" and to President Sekou Toure of Guinea "regarded by the broad masses as an outstanding peace champion." Williams Morrow a former Australian Labor Party senator also received a prize. Prizes consist of a medal, a diploma and 100,000 rubles (about $112,000).

Castro Leads Giant Parade

CUBA UNVEILS SOCIALISM 4-YEAR PLAN

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban economic chief Ernesto "Che" Guevara Sunday outlined an industrial program that would put the island nation well on the road to a planned "socialist" economy.

Speaking publicly for the first time since Cuba was invaded two weeks ago, Guevara urged a renewed drive toward total state control of industry "while the blood of all the martyrs is still fresh on the land."

In a Cuban TV speech he outlined a four-year plan designed to pull Cuba up by its economic bootstraps. The plan, to start next year, is patterned after the system used by Communist countries.

The Cuban premier, accompanied by President Osvaldo Dorticos and representatives of the Cuban Workers' Federation, led the marchers through a specially-erected triumphal arch to Havana's Plaza Civica for celebrations expected to last most of the day.

It was billed as "the greatest demonstration in Cuba's history."

Buses, trucks and cars carried marchers into the capital throughout the night amid the hootings of horns. The transport was organized on a national scale.

CASTRO IN BATTLE DRESS

May Day Muscles Flexed by Reds

LONDON (Reuters)—Most Communist states used May Day as a platform for military demonstrations today while labor unions in the non-Communist world paraded for better working conditions.

The biggest display was in Moscow where hundreds of thousands of Russians watched a four-hour parade which included the latest equipment from the Soviet missile arsenal. The world's first spaceman, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, occupied the place of honor on the reviewing stand.

Militarism was downgraded in Peking in favor of sporting events and acrobatics. Three million Chinese jammed parks and sports stadiums in the capital for the celebration.

In Communist East Berlin, tanks and heavy guns rumbled across Marx-Engels square as some 2,000 steel-helmeted soldiers goose-stepped past. Demonstrations today while labor unions in the non-Communist world paraded for better working conditions.

The three Western commandants in Berlin termed the East Berlin parade incompatible with the four-power status of the city and a threat to public order.

Across the border in West Berlin, Mayor Willy Brandt told an estimated 700,000 persons at a counter rally: "The Berliners will be at their posts if our opponents are preparing a new onslaught."

In Communist Czechoslovakia, some 500,000 persons marched through Prague. Police estimated that more than 1,400,000 persons took part in rallies throughout the pan.

JAILED INDEFINITELY?

Katanga Tense As Tshombe Held

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo called a high-level conference here today amid rising tension in this Congo province over the arrest of President Moise Tshombe by the central government.

Munongo conferred with the heads of the police force and government departments and with representatives of big Belgian companies over Tshombe's arrest.

He also arranged a cabinet meeting to decide what measures Katanga can take to meet the challenge laid down by the central government's announcement that it planned to hold Tshombe a prisoner in Leopoldville indefinitely.

The news that the Leopoldville government might hold Tshombe indefinitely and bring Katanga under the control of the central government hit Elisabethville like a bombshell.

Most Europeans were openly alarmed and depressed at the sudden turn of events.

Aussie Health Plan OK—But Not for Us

TORONTO (CP)—A four-man study group of the Canadian Medical Association has expressed qualified approval of Australia's state medical service.

After spending 3½ weeks in Australia the three doctors and one economist report that the Australian system is "working very satisfactorily."

The report, published in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association's journal, is signed by Drs. T. J. Quintin of Sherbrooke, Que., E. C. McCoy of Vancouver and Peter Banks of Victoria and economist B. E. Freango of the CMA staff.

A spokesman for the CMA says the report is not intended as a basis for recommending a similar system in Canada.

The team reports that the basic principles of the Australian service appear to be sound and the quality of service high. It points out, however, that experience so far has been based on a period of high employment.

Criticism of the system include the fact that Australian family doctors are not allowed to function in public hospitals and are sometimes forced to work in smaller private hospitals that have less equipment. Another criticism says the team is that the state system tends to create too many "public beds" in hospitals which, although intended for poorer patients, are often used by people capable of paying a fair share.

TV TIME UNCERTAIN

While major TV networks are planning "live" coverage of the U.S. attempt to shoot a man through space in a rocket, none were able to give any confirmed time today for the telecast. Forecast time for the shoot, weather and other conditions permitting, has been given as 7 a.m. EST, Tuesday, which would be 5 a.m. Victoria time. It is suggested televiewers who want to see the event keep a close check on stations for announcements tonight.

New Ferry Called 'City of Victoria'

Premier Bennett announced today the B.C. government's new ferries will be named My City of Victoria and My City of Vancouver "to symbolize the industrial, commercial and economic ties between the two cities."

He made the announcement at a luncheon to mark the keel-laying ceremony of the City of Victoria this morning. (See story on page 17.)

'Peg Grid Star Hurt in Freak Mishap

WINNIPEG (CCP) — Roger Savile, a 10-year tackle with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Football Conference, was in hospital waiting for doctors to give a decision on whether or not he will regain sight in his right eye following a freak sport accident.

The 30-year-old native of neighboring St. Boniface was hit in the eye with a squash ball Friday afternoon.

Council Starts Cutting Budget

City council today began cutting at a $10,288,827 budget in an effort to reduce it by $448,400 to hold the mill rate line at last year's level.

Preliminary estimates totalled 57.9 mills for this year's levy, 5.15 above 1960.

Freighter Hard Aground in River

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — The German freighter Consul Schulte, bound for Detroit, ran aground early today in the lower Detroit River and remained stuck by its own efforts to pull away.

Castro Leads Giant Parade

CUBA UNVEILS
SOCIALISM
4-YEAR PLAN

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Cuban economic chief Ernesto (Che) Guevara Sunday outlined an industrial program that would put the island nation well on the road to a planned "socialist" economy.

Speaking publicly for the first time since Cuba was invaded two weeks ago, Guevara urged a renewed drive toward total state control of industry "while the blood of all the martyrs is still fresh on the land."

In a Cuban TV speech he outlined a four-year plan designed to pull Cuba up by its economic bootstraps. The plan, to start next year, is patterned after the system used by Communist countries.

The Cuban premier, accompanied by President Osvaldo Dorticos and representatives of the Cuban Workers' Federation, led the marchers through a specially-erected triumphal arch to Havana's Plaza Civica for celebrations expected to last most of the day.

It was billed as "the greatest demonstration in Cuba's history."

Buses, trucks and cars carried marchers into the capital throughout the night amid the hootings of horns. The transport was organized on a national scale.

CASTRO IN BATTLE DRESS

Reds Propose
New Laos Plan

(Times News Services)

VIENTIANE, Laos — Laotian government officials studied a new proposal from the Communist-supported rebels today to determine if the two sides could agree on a site for a cease-fire conference.

Radio Hanoi, voice of Communist North Viet Nam, said Sunday the rebels would be willing to meet delegates of this pro-Western government at the jungle village of Na Mon, about six miles from the rebel-held town of Yang Vieng.

Since Saturday Royal Laotian forces have had a 1,500-member truce delegation at the village of Ban Khy, just 10 miles from Na Mon, waiting in vain for a rebel delegation to show up.

Now the question was whether the two sides could close the last 10 miles.

CHANGE STAND

Some Laotian officials felt the fact that the rebels backed down on their demand to hold cease-fire talks in their northern stronghold of Xieng Khouang indicated they were getting serious about a truce.

But Western observers said it appeared unlikely the rebels would give up the offensive which has been rolling back government troops the past week.

King Savang Vathana opposes a 14-nation peace conference on Laos, Cambodia's Prince Norodon Sihanouk said today. This might throw up another roadblock to a cease-fire.

Sihanouk has been acting in a role of mediator in the civil conflict and it was he who first suggested the 14-nation conference. The Communist-led rebels made this the cornerstone of their peace proposals.

Sihanouk talked to reporters on a stopover here from Luang Prabang, the Laotian royal capital.

MORE ACTIVE ROLE

The impact of the king's decision is difficult to assess. The king by tradition stands aloof from politics. But as the crisis deepened in Laos he took a more active role in trying to settle the conflict and the pro-Western government listened to his counsels.

Sihanouk and W. Averell Harriman, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, have been conferring with the king.

Sihanouk told a press conference in Vientiane that the king insisted the Laotian factions must settle their problems themselves.

President Kennedy was to call in the National Security Council again today to weigh a more active role for the United States in Laos.

This is the fourth session for the strategy group within 10 days.

Meanwhile, the United States cancelled the airlift of 6,000 troops to Europe for a planned NATO exercise.

Kennedy cut short his week-end rest in the Virginia countryside Sunday to review the Laotian crisis with government officials.

RUSK:

No U.S. Plan
To Use Arms Against Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk assured investigating senators today the United States has no plans for armed intervention in Cuba.

Senator Wayne Morse (Dem., Ore.) said Rusk made this clear during three hours of closed-door interrogation by the Latin American affairs subcommittee of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Morse, the subcommittee chairman, reported Rusk made an able, factual "and open-breasted" statement concerning the U.S. role in the ill-fated invasion of Cuba.

Morse quoted Rusk as saying the invasion decision was made by the Cuban refugees themselves, but that they did have arms, financial and training assistance from the United States.

Rusk was the leadoff witness in the subcommittee's effort to pin down the extent of U.S. involvement in the Cuban invasion fiasco.

Morse said "Mr. Rusk made it clear that rumors and statements that the United States is planning, because of the bloody nose we suffered, further military intervention in Cuba has no basis in fact whatsoever."

RAILWAY WAGE TALKS
BREAK DOWN

OTTAWA (CP) — Railway-union negotiations in Montreal aimed at averting a nationwide railway strike set for May 16 have collapsed, it was learned today.

The government is understood to have been informed today that last-ditch talks in Montreal failed to break an impasse in the multi-million-dollar wage dispute between the major railways and 111,000 of their non-operating employees.

The abrupt end of the negotiations once again confronts the federal government with a fast-moving crisis that could erupt into a transcontinental railway tie-up May 16 unless solved.

The railways are understood to have offered a compromise settlement that would not have provided a full retroactive pay boost for 1960.

GRIM-FACED, Katanga Province President Moise Tshombe sat with legs crossed under guard of armed Congolese soldier after arrest at Coquilhatville, where he had earlier walked out of conference of the embattled new nation's leaders. (AP Wirephoto.)

JAILED INDEFINITELY?

Katanga Tense
As Tshombe Held

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo called a high-level conference here today amid rising tension in this Congo province over the arrest of President Moise Tshombe by the central government.

Munongo conferred with the heads of the police force and government departments and with representatives of big Belgian companies over Tshombe's arrest.

He also arranged a cabinet meeting to decide what measures Katanga can take to meet the challenge laid down by the central government's announcement that it planned to hold Tshombe a prisoner in Leopoldville indefinitely.

The news that the Leopoldville government might hold Tshombe indefinitely and bring Katanga under the control of the central government hit Elisabethville like a bombshell.

Most Europeans were openly alarmed and depressed at the sudden turn of events.

Shot Set Tuesday
From Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A highly-trained American astronaut will try to get some sleep tonight knowing that in the morning he may rocket into space.

The odds are 100 to 1 that he will come through without harm, experts say.

Some time after dawn he may be strapped into a space capsule atop a relatively puny rocket.

Perhaps 100 minutes later the Redstone rocket will fling him 115 miles up and 200 miles over the Atlantic.

However, a prediction of bad weather today raised some doubts whether the shot will go as planned. If present forecasts hold, the weather may not be suitable in all respects until the last half of the week.

The Redstone is less than a tenth as powerful as the monster rocket that shot Russian Yuri Gagarin on a space trip around the world in 108 minutes last month.

SHOT FIRST STEP

Tuesday's planned shot is the first step in a program that will—before the year is out—give an American the same thrilling ride around the globe.

Of the two possible space pilots, whose names are still secret, one will go and one will be on the ready, should something—even a slight cold—disqualify the first.

The chosen two were picked from three men: John Herschel Glenn, a Marine Corps lieutenant colonel from Concord, Ohio; Alan Bartlett Shepard, a navy commander from East Derry, N.H.; and Virgil Ivan Grissom, an air force captain from Mitchell, Ind.

Elaborate safety precautions have been taken—the astronaut will wear a suit filled with pure oxygen in case his space capsule is damaged.

There are two radio channels, two microphones, and if they fail, a telegraph key.

The automatic systems that release the parachutes are backed by manual systems operated by the pilot. There is a spare parachute as well.

Radio beacons to help ships locate the capsule in the water are backed up by radio systems. The capsule carries a special flashing light, and dyes to color the water.

In the water, if the capsule should leak, the astronaut can escape aboard a life raft.

May Day Muscles
Flexed by Reds

LONDON (Reuters) — Most Communist states used May Day as a platform for military demonstrations today while labor unions in the non-Communist world paraded for better working conditions.

The biggest display was in Moscow where hundreds of thousands of Russians watched a four-hour parade which included the latest equipment from the Soviet missile arsenal. The world's first spaceman, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, occupied the place of honor on the reviewing stand.

Militarism was downgraded in Peking in favor of sporting events and acrobatics. Three million Chinese jammed parks and sports stadiums in the capital for the celebration.

In Communist East Berlin, tanks and heavy guns rumbled across Marx-Engels square as some 2,000 steel-helmeted soldiers goose-stepped past Defence Minister Gen. Karl-Heinz Hoffman.

4 Safe in Arctic

WINNIPEG (CP) — Four men whose plane disappeared on an Arctic flight 700 miles from the North Pole were found safe and well early today the RCAF reported.

Aussie Health Plan
OK—But Not for Us

TORONTO (CP) — A four-man study group of the Canadian Medical Association has expressed qualified approval of Australia's state medical service.

After spending 3½ weeks in Australia the three doctors and one economist report that the Australian system is "working very satisfactorily."

The report, published in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association's journal, is signed by Drs. T. J. Quintin of Sherbrooke, Que., E. C. McCoy of Vancouver and Peter Banks of Victoria and economist B. E. Freamo of the CMA staff.

A spokesman for the CMA says the report is not intended as a basis for recommending a similar system in Canada.

The team reports that the basic principles of the Australian service appear to be sound and the quality of service high. It points out, however, that experience so far has been based on a period of high employment.

Criticisms of the system include the fact that Australian family doctors are not allowed to function in public hospitals and are sometimes forced to work in smaller private hospitals that have less equipment. Another criticism, says the team, is that the state system tends to create too many "public beds" in hospitals which, although intended for poorer patients, are often used by people capable of paying a fair share.

BUDGET DOWN
AFTER MAY 15

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal budget won't be brought down before mid-May, Finance Minister Fleming made clear today.

"I don't think it can possibly be in the first half of this month," he said in the Commons in reply to Gordon Chown (PC—Winnipeg South).

'LOOK MA, NO EYES' IN NEW AUTOMATIC AUTO

LONDON (AP)—A "black-out" auto was driven around a private track outside London today. Scientists say it is the first step toward beating dense fog conditions by motoring on instruments alone.

The demonstration was conducted by the British Road Research Laboratory and was observed by the minister of science, Viscount Hailsham.

The test car, steered by instruments, had its windshield completely blacked out as the driver ran through a series of simple manoeuvres.

The secret of the experiment was a cable laid under the highway surface.

Two coils mounted on the front of the car operate like a mine detector and indicate on the instrument panel the position of the vehicle in relation to the road cable.

Because of the practical problems of a fully automatic car on congested highways, the road research laboratory is concentrating on a simpler approach which could be used within a year or two.

In this, selected main highways would be equipped with guidance cables, especially at intersections. In dense fog, the driver would steer his car by an instrument on the dashboard which would show his position in relation to the cable.

A warning lamp on the dashboard could repeat traffic light signals or indicate another vehicle close ahead.

SCHOOLS' DRAMA FESTIVAL

Better Acting Impresses Judges

DUNCAN—Standard of acting in the Cowichan schools drama festival has "improved greatly," Victoria adjudicators Mr. and Mrs. James Dilmage said here Saturday night after the honor performance of the 13th annual festival.

Margaret Plester of Piers Players, Duncan, and John Morton, Cowichan High School, won best actress and actor awards.

Supporting role awards went to Rosalind Coleman, Queen Margaret's School, and Garry Bruce, Cowichan High School.

Best junior actor was Mele Rasmussen, Westholme School, and best junior actress was Jean Webster-Roberts of Queen Margaret's School.

Junior supporting awards went to Christine Walker, Queen Margaret's School, and Brian Stott, Duncan Elementary School.

Best script award went to Strathcona Lodge School for "St. Joan." The demons in Westholme School's "The Wolf and the Wizard" and three wise men in Duncan Elementary's "The Stone in the Road" won special prizes for group- ing and team work.

Other awards went to "bit" players Barbara Buchanan of Queen Margaret's School and Tim Spencer of Cowichan High School.

Honor plays, which were presented to a capacity crowd in Cowichan High School auditorium, were "The Wolf and the Wizard," by Westholme School; "Cinderella," by the Piers Players, and "Cats of Egypt," by Queen Margaret's School grade 10.

E. A. Goddard was festival chairman, and Graham Corsan was secretary.

V.I. ROUNDUP

65% Support Water Bylaw

A $185,000 water system bylaw passed in Central Saanich Saturday by a vote of 463-246, or 65.3 per cent in favor.

Council will meet tonight to begin detailed planning, and work will begin almost immediately. Reeve R. Gordon Lee said the "neediest" areas of the municipality likely will have water by June 1.

DUNCAN — Cowichan District 65 school board will enroll Grade 7 students in the following elementary schools next September — Bamberton, Bench, Cobble Hill, Cowichan Station, Crofton, Gibbons Road, Glenora, Maple Bay, Mill Bay, Shawnigan Lake, Somenos and Westholme.

Students from Alexander, Duncan Elementary, Koksilah and Tansor School areas will attend special Grade 7 classes in Cowichan High School, where four rooms have been set aside for their use.

Changes are in line with recommendations of the Chant Report.

NANAIMO — A British Columbia member of Parliament said Saturday Canada has been destroying its water resources at an "alarming rate" with indiscriminate dumping of raw sewage.

Stuart Fleming, Progressive Conservative MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke, was speaking to 77 delegates at the local party's quarterly meeting here.

Mr. Fleming said water shortages were becoming common in Ontario, where a 12-inch drop in the water table represented a loss of billions of gallons.

He said the federal government had led the way in development and conservation of Canada's natural resources.

NANAIMO — Building is under way at Chase River, three miles south of here, on a $350,000 motel to feature 32 units, a swimming pool, dining room, auditorium, coffee bar, and a driving range 250 yards long.

Contractor is D. Robinson Construction Co. of Nanaimo.

PARKSVILLE — Vancouver Island Branch, B.C. School Trustees' Association, will meet here May 6 with A. M. Harvey, Ocean Falls, association president.

He will discuss developments in public school education in B.C. resulting from new legislation and other applications of the Chant Report.

PARKSVILLE — Comox Valley calf clubs won the major share of 4-H contests here Saturday in connection with the annual spring barn meet of Vancouver Island Ayrshire Club.

Winners of cash prizes in the senior division were Linda Van Aert, Comox; Margaret Hind, Courtenay, and Bill Thompson, Alberni.

Judges were Ed Thomson, Alberni; Donald C. Morton, Duncan, and Neil Rimer, Sidney.

Negro Strike Brings Riots In S. Africa

Reports said one African was killed and four injured when police opened fire on an African mob that was stoning them.

The government suspended the white official, Marthinus van Coller, the municipal officer for non-white affairs. The Africans objected to his return to duty after the Supreme Court set aside his conviction—and a six-month prison sentence—on a charge of having sexual relations with a non-white.

The Soviet Union says it has 21,700 citizens 100 years of age or older, with 592 in the 120-plus class.
